ARTIST EARLE PROPOSED TO ONLY ONE OF FOUR WIVES
Answers Dancer's $150,000 Demand of Promise Suits With Fiat

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 3.—Ferdinand Pinney Earle, vice president of the City Utilities Co., the dancer who has been the subject of a deposition in Superior Court, today announced that he had proposed to only one of his four wives. The deposition, signed by Paris, was the 51-year-old defendant's answer to the dancer's $150,000 demand of promise suits.

Earle declares that he had proposed to only one, the youngest of his four wives. Concerning the others, "There is such a thing as spontaneous agreement with a woman," he explained.

The dancer declares that Earle won her by a "course of art, love-making and passionate letters," and abandoned her for Paris.

All these charges are denied by Earle, although he admits that Salazar accompanied him on a trip to Paris two years ago. He admitted that she abandoned him there.

BUS AND TROLLEY LINES TO SUBMIT UNIFICATION PLAN

Detailed Scheme Is Expected to Be Offered Soon to Transportation Survey Committee.

COMPANIES OPPOSE KELKER'S PROPOSAL

Express Bus Service on Certain Lines, De Luxe Service on Others Among Points Being Considered.

The Transportation Survey Commission's committee on street car and bus unification expects to have a report ready soon from the St. Louis Public Service Co. and the People's Motor Bus Co., a detailed plan for unification of their respective services.

It was learned today that after representatives of the two transportation companies, now controlled by the same holding company, had indicated the plan proposed by R. F. Kelker Jr., engineer for the commission, was not acceptable to them, the committee asked them to submit their own plan.

On behalf of the transportation companies, A. T. Perkins, vice president of the City Utilities Co., the chairman of the committee, today announced a general statement of principles to be followed in unification of service. This statement, however, made no attempt to develop a workable plan.

Claude B. Ricketts, chairman of the unification committee, and other members of the committee, today announced that they expected to prepare and submit a plan, and that they expected such a plan would be in shape shortly.

From members of the committee it was learned the general principles upon which the plan of the transportation companies will be developed take into consideration the following services to be performed by busses:

Express service over certain lines that is the elimination of all stops between certain points with local service subject to intervening points by street cars.

Extension of service beyond existing street car terminals. To supplement street cars on heavily traveled lines in rush hours.

To replace street cars on certain lines where street car operation is not self-sustaining. A de luxe service on higher fares by means of small, fast, comfortable busses between downtown and residential sections. This would provide a service similar to that now given by service cars.

Members of the Transportation Survey Commission's Committee in addition to Chairman Ricketts are Edward M. Hilly, Alderman, Edward L. Kuhn, A. H. Reller, and Director of Streets and Sewers.

No Specific Objections. The committee has held two meetings which were attended also by Stanley Clarke, president, and Samuel W. Greenland, manager, of the Public Service Co., Richard W. Wade, president of the People's Motor Bus Co., and Perkins.

The committee took up consideration of Kelker's co-ordination report, submitted last September, and the representative of the transportation companies said they would not approve it as a whole. They did not point out their objections specifically, but the committee asked them to draft a comprehensive plan embodying their own ideas and as much of Kelker's plan as they were willing to accept.

It was pointed out to them that their unified control they are now in a position to work harmoniously in preparation and execution of a unification plan that would give better service to the city.

Ricketts said his committee would make some kind of report to the commission at its next meeting, but he did not know whether the co-ordination plan of the transportation companies would be available by that time.

CONVICT GETS 10 YEARS ON TWO ROBBERY CHARGES
Brown Pleads Guilty and Avoids Life Term as Habitual Criminal.

By the Associated Press.
JAMES BROWN, 29 years old, a former convict, pleaded guilty of two robbery charges and was sentenced today by Circuit Judge Hamilton to 10 years in the penitentiary. He was charged under the habitual criminal act, but escaped his application by pleading guilty. If he had been convicted after trial a life sentence would have been mandatory.

Brown was charged with participating in two robberies, last October 29 when $145 was taken from Martin Plazensky, grocer at 1120 1/2 street, and $15 from Fred Brown, baker at 160 Cahokia street. Brown had been served terms for robbery and automobile theft.

5 DEADLY WEAPON HOLDUP SUSPECTS ARE DENIED BAIL

Judge Weinbrenner in Court of Criminal Correction Announces New Rules in Such Cases.

A policy of refusing bond to all persons charged with robbery committed with a dangerous or deadly weapon was declared by Judge Ray Weinbrenner in Court of Criminal Correction, No. 2, today when he ordered five men held for trial in the City Jail, denying their pleas for bail.

Judge Weinbrenner said he was in accord with the policy of Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller, who recently stated that wherever the evidence justified it, he would prosecute holdup men and robbers under the Henry law, which authorizes a minimum punishment of 10 years and a maximum sentence of death for robbery with a deadly weapon.

The five men who came before Judge Weinbrenner were charged with ordinary robbery on information. Testimony of arresting officers and of witnesses, however, showed the robberies had been committed with dangerous or deadly weapons.

"I will not admit these men to bail," Judge Weinbrenner said. "The cases will be turned over to the Circuit Attorney's office, which may proceed against them either by indictment or by information, under the Henry law. From this time on, in which the robber is shown to have used a dangerous or deadly weapon, a gun or a knife, cannot be admitted to bail."

The men denied bail and ordered to the city jail are Richard Walker, who was charged with three robberies; John Minsler, charged with robbery; Gus Walker, charged with two robberies; Harry Nabors and Robert Taylor, each charged with robbery.

Two other men, charged with robbery, were dismissed by Judge Weinbrenner for lack of evidence. Circuit Attorney Miller, in denying bail, would invoke the Henry law, passed in 1927, said he was acting to drive gunmen and holdup men from the streets.

Judge Weinbrenner said that many criminals, who got bail on the Henry law, immediately committed other crimes with which they were charged. He said that the law was passed to pay off their bondmen. The denial of bail, he said, was justified, because the commission of robbery with a deadly weapon brought the crime under purview of the Henry law, which provides such a crime on involving possible capital punishment.

$75,000 OF $110,000 POLICIES ON MOGLER'S LIFE PAID WIDOW
Two Sisters of Slain Senator Will Receive; No Will Discovered.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—State Senator Joseph Mogler, murdered Dec. 2 by two men who waited for him in his theater at 2316 North Ninth street, carried $110,000 worth of insurance of which $75,000 has been paid to his widow under her dower rights. The remainder, left to two sisters, probably will be paid to them, according to Mrs. Mogler's attorney, the curia, Hackett. None of the policies, Hackett said, named Mrs. Mogler as beneficiary. Those not payable to his sisters, Senator Mogler left to his estate.

Phil H. Brockman, former president of the Board of Police Commissioners, Sheriff George Stettmann and Michael Nash, business associate of Senator Mogler, are making an inventory of the Mogler estate, which probably will be filed within 10 days. No will has been found in Senator Mogler's papers.

SAYS LAND WAS MORTGAGED WITHOUT HIS KNOWLEDGE
Owns Enjoins Foreclosure on Property on Which Late P. J. Falzone Borrowed $6000.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—A temporary injunction restraining the Western States Life Insurance Co. from foreclosing two mortgages totaling $6000 on property owned by Joseph Pedrell, a real estate salesman of 3219 Pine avenue, Brentwood, was issued by Circuit Judge Mulloy at Clayton today.

Pedrell testified the loans were made without his knowledge by Frank J. Falzone, former president of the insurance company, and that Falzone used the money for his own purposes. He did not become aware of the existence of the mortgages, he said, until several weeks after Falzone's death last Oct. 11, when he received notice that interest payments were past due. Previously, he said, Falzone had made the interest payments.

Pedrell said he gave Falzone certificates of title for these and other properties several years ago when Falzone arranged a $4500 loan for him.

Am B. Wallace, who succeeded Falzone as president of the insurance company, said yesterday between $30,000 and $40,000 would have to be charged off its assets as a result of irregularities in loans made by Falzone. Falzone, a former barber, was founder of the insurance company, which has offices at 19 South Central avenue, Clayton.

SENATOR ALLEN BUYS RANCH TO STUDY FARM PROBLEM
Purposes to Sow Two and a Half Sections in Western Kansas in Wheat.

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 3.—Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas has bought part of a western Kansas cattle ranch and will convert it to a wheat farm to find out "just how much that process hurts it," he does hurt."

The Senator is completing the purchase of two and a half sections of a ranch near Wallace, in Wallace County. He will sow all of it in wheat, although only 500 acres now are broken up. John Woodward, a neighbor, will supervise the work when Allen is unable to be on hand. The farm, near the Colorado border, will be motorized.

"As a representative in Congress of the greatest wheat producing state I want to learn from personal experience the problems of wheat growing and marketing," Senator Allen said today. "I want to bear my share of the responsibility while getting the information. And I bought part of a cattle ranch because I believe the trend in Kansas is from cattle land to wheat production."

"I noticed he was white and physically fit. What the matter was?" I asked, and then he told me all about it.

"Well, let's call the newspapers," I suggested. It had not occurred

DU PONT RENEWS HIS OFFER TO PURCHASE CUMBERLAND FALLS

Ready to Pay $400,000 to Preserve Kentucky Beauty Spot for State.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 3.—An announcement by the Cumberland Falls Preservation Association that T. Coleman du Pont, former Delaware Senator and native Kentuckian, has renewed his offer to purchase Cumberland Falls for $400,000 and present it to the State is the latest move on the part of preservationists to preserve this scenic spot for State park purposes.

The announcement was made in letters mailed to members of the Legislature, which convenes next week, requesting them to accept the offer. Two years ago du Pont offered to purchase the site, but the 1928 Legislature rejected the offer.

Cumberland Falls, a beauty spot in an isolated section of the Eastern Kentucky mountains, has been purchased by the Cumberland Hydro-Electric Power Co. for conversion into a power plant.

Du Pont's offer includes not only the falls site, but 2000 acres surrounding it. If his latest offer is accepted by the 1930 Legislature, it will be necessary for that body to empower the State Park Commission to condemn the land owned by the power company.

BRENTWOOD ASSISTANT CHIEF EXONERATED BY ALDERMEN
Albert Holtz Accused of Drinking; Same Charge Against Superior.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—Meeting in executive session last night, the Brentwood Board of Aldermen, exonerated Assistant Chief of Police Albert Holtz of a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. A similar charge against Chief of Police Louis Lucas, who had brought charges against Holtz, was filed by Alderman George J. Miller.

Holtz had been suspended summarily by Lucas on Christmas Day, Lucas charging that his assistant, appointed by the Board of Aldermen, had been drinking. Last night, Holtz presented a physician's certificate that he had been ill, and that his condition was not induced by alcohol.

Although filed with the Board, Moeller's specific charges against Lucas were not made public. He also declared Lucas incompetent and alleged that he used trick devices in obtaining evidence from prisoners. Lucas declared the charges were unfounded and that they were made for political purposes.

Gifts for Child Artists On River Front Pour In

Mary Jane Manning, 9, Who Won Art Museum Prize With Drawing, and Her Brother J. C., 11, Revel in Paints and Crayons.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—Mary Jane Manning, river bank children, who won prizes for drawing at the Art Museum and a week ago lacked even pencils to draw with in their river shack at 3900 Wharf street, live today in a world in which crayons, pencils, and paints are plentiful.

Packages and letters began to reach the children last Monday, following publication in the Post-Dispatch of their story. Packages were still arriving today at the ramshackle, four-room frame house that lies between the river and a network of railroad tracks, almost in the shadow of McKinley Bridge.

About $20 in cash has been sent to the children. One woman sent 10 cents to the Post-Dispatch which was turned over to them yesterday. Mary Jane, who is 9 years old and J. C., who is 11, each needed shoes at least as badly as they needed crayons. So part of the money has been spent for new shoes. It was not necessary to spend any of the money for drawing materials because the postman brought them in abundance.

Gifts of Drawing Materials.
Big yellow pencils, some with soft lead and some with hard lead. Green crayons, blue crayons, red crayons. Box after box of crayons. Some were sent by a former school teacher in Belleville. Others by persons in St. Louis. One man sent some crayons and said that he too was an artist and had grown up on a river bank. He said that a river bank could be a beautiful place; that one could find lots of things to draw along a river bank. Mary Jane smiled at that because she has made lots of pictures of boats and of McKinley Bridge.

Other persons sent paints. There were some used boxes of extra good water color and at least half a dozen painting sets, with brand new paints and a whole collection of pictures of birds, and people, and flowers, and houses, and boats and almost everything to paint from. A glittering pair of new paint sets arrived late yesterday and Mary Jane and J. C. tore the paper eagerly from the boxes.

"My goodness," Mary Jane said. "O boy!" said J. C. "Look at the pictures," said Mary Jane.

"Say, here's a pencil sharpener for the pencils," observed J. C. The set had been sent by a young woman from the Kingsway Hotel. Trying the new paints.

Every day since last Sunday Mary Jane and J. C. have been drawing and dabbling. Mary Jane tried the first set of paints on a picture of McKinley Bridge. It was a wonderful picture. The big steel girders cross and recross and you know the bridge is strong enough for almost any street car or train. And underneath there are gobs and gobs of blue water. Maybe the Mississippi isn't blue but it's a good picture anyway.

J. C. drew some flowers on a table and painted them and then he found some tracing paper and traced out a yellow and white cow with a farmer standing by it and he colored the drawing with crayons. It looked fine. Then people came to the shack at the river and invited the children on luncheon parties. Once they went to a house in the West End, near where they go to Sunday school on Page boulevard, and played with a scooter and roller-skated and J. C. fell on the sidewalk but didn't get hurt, and it was funny and everybody laughed. They had a good time out there. There aren't any sidewalks on Wharf street, just cinders.

Today they have been invited to another house in the West End. Last week there weren't any paints or pencils at all. And while Mary Jane was glad she won a prize at the Art Museum, her mother wasn't there to know about it. Her mother, who had encouraged Mary Jane and J. C. to draw, died of pneumonia in St. Louis Hospital about seven weeks ago.

Now J. C. and Mary Jane have made lots of new friends. And they've received some things they really needed. And then their father, who works in a big steel plant over in Granite City, has been taken off the night shift and now he works in the day time, and they like that. And stacked up in the corner of the two by four living room in the shack are blocks of paper and perhaps the finest paint boxes that ever were put together.

By the Associated Press.
SANTA CLARA, Cal., Jan. 3.—Seven persons were injured, one probably fatally, in an explosion on the main street here today when the fronts of seven stores were demolished.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas in the Madden pharmacy. William Forsey of the Mead jewelry store was injured probably fatally. Firemen estimated the probable loss at $15,000. The blast was not followed by fire.

FALLS DEAD GOING TO DOCTOR
On his way to call a doctor for his wife, Chief Petty Officer John Daly, 40 years old, a naval recruiting officer, fell dead today at Natural Bridge and Shreve avenues.

Physicians said death apparently was caused by heart disease. Daly had been stationed in St. Louis about a year and resided at 4139 Shreve avenue.

MISSING MAN'S AUTO FOUND WITH BULLET MARKS
Search Begun for William Schmissor, Belleville Radio Dealer, Who Left Home Wednesday.

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—Police of East St. Louis and Belleville have joined in a search for William Schmissor, 45 years old, a radio dealer of Belleville, whose automobile bearing four bullet marks and containing one of his shoes and an engraved matchbox, was found yesterday at Fifty-first street and St. Clair avenue, in a lonely section of East St. Louis.

Schmissor has been missing since 1 o'clock Wednesday night when he left his home at 230 West A street, telling his wife and two sons he was going to a theater.

Schmissor's car, a Chandler coupe, had been driven off the roadway and was mired in a clump of weeds, as if the driver had turned from the road in the dark while pursuing. Two shot-jacketed .45-caliber pistol bullets had shattered the rear glass and were found imbedded in the top of the machine. Two similar slugs were in the side of the car. There were

POLICEMAN, 40 YEARS IN ONE DISTRICT, QUILTS

John McEneny, Never Transferred From "Bloody Third," Recalls Old Days.

Patrolman John McEneny, who for 40 years walked a beat in the "Bloody Third," later the Fourth (Carr street) police district, retired from the police force yesterday. He is 66 years old, and entered the Police Department April 16, 1889. Rheumatism has confined him recently to his room at 4576 Newberry terrace.

Until December, 1928, McEneny remained on active duty in the district to which he was assigned at the outset, and from which he was never transferred. But in recent years he has found police work a dull and routine round, compared to his experiences of the nineties. If there were any dull days then he has forgotten them.

"Those were the days when a policeman had to earn his pay," he said, speaking especially of the first dozen years of his service. "Every man was on duty 12 hours, the year round, and there wasn't a day we didn't have to go to court, often to two courts in one morning. That was because there wasn't a day when we didn't have to arrest somebody."

"One blessing then was that they didn't issue our uniforms very often. With all the rough-and-tumble we had to do, they wouldn't have stood inspecting. They were torn so often that I don't know how the young fellows without wives managed to get along."

Had to Walk Beat Alone.

"My beat for years was from the river to Second street, and from Washington avenue to Wash street. No matter how tough the beats were—and mine was one of the worst—we had to take them alone. And there were no reserves sitting around the station house at Seventh and Carr, though for a bluff I had to talk sometimes as if there were. A policeman had to go into trouble by himself, and he had to get himself out."

"The section north of Washington avenue was the natural emptying place for the steamboats. A noisy and reckless lot of deck hands from the boats would head up Morgan street, with money in their pockets, and would scatter through the dance halls, crab games and resorts all along Morgan and the adjoining streets. Our main trouble was with Negroes, although we had some bad white men to deal with, and it happened that the only man I ever had to shoot though I threatened to shoot many—was a white man. I shot him in the leg, though I was in sufficient danger to have justified me in shooting him through the head. As it was, he did not get off very easily, for his leg had to be amputated."

"There is no section and no class of our population now so troublesome as the 'Bloody Third' and the steamboat rowdies who used to frequent it. There were many others who were not employed on steamboats, but who made as much disturbance. In those years, the Third, later the Fourth, district sent more cases to police and criminal courts, every year, than all the rest of the city."

Lively Days on the Levee.
"The Levee north of Eads Bridge, which seems so deserted now, was a lively place then. In warm weather, hundreds slept in the open air on the Levee, on lumber piles and boxes. A man who lay down drunk was likely to be stripped of his clothes, and I've often had to go up on my beat and get an old pair of pants and a shirt somewhere for one who had waked up to find himself practically naked."

"A policeman couldn't live, let alone hold his job, on one of those beats if he didn't show those people who was boss. Lots of young men who thought it would be fun to be on the police force changed their minds after a tryout in the Third District. Martin O'Brien, later Chief, was one of those who walked in the Third when I did."

and who made himself respected there.
"I could handle the men as a rule, but I admit that I was afraid of some of the wild, razor-wielding women who infested the dance halls. I often had to tell them, as I did the men:
"The Captain wants to see you. The Captain won't take any foolishness from you, and you know I won't. So you can take a seat in the wagon, or you'll be on a slab down at the Morgue pretty soon, and it makes no difference which, to me."

Tricks of the Trade.
"One critical moment in a policeman's experience, which came frequently, was when an arrest had been made, and the prisoner had been taken to the box. The officer had to get out his key and call the station, and if he gave the prisoner a chance, he might be rushed and his gun taken from him. I used to make them stand on my left, and I'd make the crowd keep back by telling them that I might have to do some shooting, and didn't want to hit anybody I wasn't aiming at."

"There were 21 saloons on my Levee beat, and half of them never closed, their doors—some had no lock on the door. In other places of business, burglary was much more common than now. While the policeman was at the front door, the burglars might be entering at the back."

"I was one of the policemen who were called to the saloon at Eleventh and Morgan after a Negro named Duncan shot Patrolman Brady to death there in 1899. Patrolman Gaffney was beaten unconscious at the same time. Two policemen took Duncan by bluffing him with their empty revolvers. He was hanged at Clayton, where he was tried on a charge of rape.

"Capt. Peter Joyce used to put us on plain clothes duty sometimes. He would have us put on old clothes, dirty hat, and smoke a pipe. We seldom found things quiet when we went out like that."

Chicago Hotel Rooms Padlocked.
CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Three rooms in a North Side hotel were ordered padlocked for a year by Federal Judge Carpenter yesterday because it was held that they had been used for violating the prohibition law.

SELECTIVE IMMIGRATION URGED AS MEANS TO CHECK CRIME

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Selective immigration as a remedy for two of the nation's problems—extortion and unemployment—and for improvement of economic conditions was advocated by Harry E. Hull, recently reappointed by President Hoover as Commissioner-General of Immigration.

It will be a progressive step for the commissioner, if Congress makes this system the foundation of the country's immigration policy, sponsored by the American Federation of Labor, Hull said.

He declared that under the present system thousands of unneeded alien laborers are admitted annually. Selective immigration, however, would permit accepting only those who would aid industry.

"We would find out where a man is going," he said, "what he is going to do there and whether there is room for him under economic needs before admitting him. If he intended engaging in some occupation in which there is already a surplus, he would not be permitted to enter."

Several bills already are pending in Congress to allow selective immigration to a limited extent, but none goes as far as the commissioner desires.

A Record-Breaking Group of Overcoats and Two Trouser Suits

▼ ▼ ▼ and in January, too — when making a selection is generally a matter of choosing from a stock of "left-overs".

Most of the applause for this event belongs to our far-sighted factory. They've done a noble job in preparing for the late-comers. For in this special group, they've just delivered the proudest collection of Fine Clothes we've seen all season ▼ These overcoats and two-trouser suits owe their distinguished and costly appearance to the renowned London tailor who modeled their sleek lines. They have been blessed with vigorous constitutions by the foremost of all American weavers (aided by Bond needle-workers). And they have depended on Bond's tremendous 26-store volume, for their introduction to the men of St. Louis—at a delightfully moderate price ▼ These plain facts do not need the support of any of the current high pressure ballyhoo to make them impressive ▼ We suggest that you plan a prompt visit, while selections are best.

THREATENS SUIT TO PUT FOX FIRMS IN RECEIVERSHIP

Attorney for Class A Stockholders of Film Corporation Says Course Is Likely Unless Creditors Act.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Stanley M. Lazarus, counsel for the Class A stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation, announced yesterday that unless the creditors immediately applied for a receivership, the holders of the A shares contemplated such action "for their protection."

The immediate effect of the statement was a drop of 4 1/2 points a share in Fox Film Class A stock on the New York Stock Exchange, carrying the stock to $17, a new low record, and depressing the market generally in sympathy. The peak price last year was $195.62.

The corporation's Class B stock is controlled by William Fox, who a month ago offered to relinquish control of both the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation. H. L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and John E. Otterson, president of Electric Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., then agreed to act as trustees with Fox.

Claims Reported Due.

"Class A stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation announced that the situation in the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation does not look encouraging," said the statement by Lazarus. "And indications are that a receivership must be resorted to at once in order to protect all interests. The reported disagreement among the trustees and Class B Fox Film stock, the unwillingness of the company officials and trustees to co-operate with the Class A stockholders' committee and the status of the creditors whose claims are reported due with no present arrangement for satisfying them, make such a step seem inevitable."

None of the trustees for the banks which are understood to hold approximately $30,000,000 in short-term obligations of the Fox companies would comment on the statement.

Lazarus announced that a committee of the Class A stockholders of Fox Theaters was being formed "so that their interest will also be protected."

May Hold Up Dividend. "There is a likelihood," continued the attorney, "that creditors may take action on account of the present situation to prevent the disbursement of the dividend of approximately $900,000 now due and payable Jan. 15."

"The Government suit to force the company to divest itself of Loew's, Inc., holdings, if successful, will result in the disposal of this valuable property at a severe loss on account of the marked depreciation in the price of the stock. The removal of this most valuable asset and the resultant loss of revenue to the company will seriously impair earnings, in the opinion of the committee."

"It is essential that the liabilities of the Fox Film group and Fox Theaters be segregated and made public at once and the entire status of both corporations be brought out into the open so that the assets of each corporation may be properly located and maintained in the same position occupied by them prior to the appointment of the trustees. Appropriate action by the committee to this end is contemplated."

Fox Says 1929 Will Be Best Year. William Fox, president of the Fox Film Corporation, last night issued a statement predicting that the year 1929 "will be the greatest in every respect in the history of the company."

The statement said: "The assets of the Fox Film Corporation over and above all liabilities are in excess of $13,000,000, and the earnings for this corporation during the year 1929 are over $12,000,000, with a special non-recurring profit of $6,000,000, or a total for the year of over $19,000,000."

"The estimated profits for 1929 based on figures presented by operating members of the organization are in excess of $17,000,000."

"Officials of the company are in process of negotiations which when completed they believe will enable them to find all of the corporation's short-term obligations."

"From all appearances, the year 1929 will be the greatest in every respect in the history of the company."

BOY SAYS HE AND TWO OTHERS ROBBED 150 BROOKLYN HOMES

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A 16-year-old schoolboy yesterday told Magistrate Hughes he and two 15-year-old companions had robbed 150 Brooklyn homes in the last two months.

The boy, William Haggerty, was arrested before Magistrate Hughes on a charge of robbery and was held in $10,000 bail. His two companions were sent to the Children's Court.

Haggerty said the plan in most of the 150 robberies was to enter houses where parties were in progress, climb into the room where the wraps had been left and steal whatever valuables were found.

INCREASE IN ST. LOUIS PACKAGE FREIGHT

213,709 Cars Shipped in 12 Months, Ending Sept. 30, by Rail and River.

Growth of St. Louis as a distribution center is indicated in a survey compiled by Director Smith of the Industrial Club's industrial bureau from records of the Chamber of Commerce traffic department and the exceptional fast service provided by St. Louis rail and river lines.

The survey showed that 213,709 package cars were forwarded by rail from St. Louis in the 12 months ending Sept. 30, last, an increase of 224 over the 12 months ending Sept. 30, 1936.

In addition to these 213,709 package cars, Smith pointed out, "many equivalent carloads of less-than-carload merchandise, freight were shipped by Missouri River on the Federal barge lines operating express packet steamers to New Orleans and low service to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Also a large tonnage of merchandise freight was transported by privately owned packet lines operating out of St. Louis on the Mississippi and its tributaries, the Ohio, Tennessee and Illinois Rivers."

An average of three package cars a day went directly to Mexico, and Smith cited that 298 St. Louis concerns in 1937 exported goods valued at $55,000,000. To the Pacific states, in the 12 months ending Sept. 30, last, went 2644 package cars; to the great industrial Atlantic seaboard 13,305.

A total of 188,650 package cars, at a rate of 10 a day to nearly 150 a day for each state, went to 14 states—Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Tennessee, Indiana, Oklahoma, Ohio, Kentucky, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. They comprise 31 per cent of the national area, 28 per cent of population, 14 per cent of wealth, 32 per cent of production, nearly half the nation's crops, live stocks and mineral products, and more than half of the production of pig iron and crude petroleum.

"Except for a small portion of Eastern Ohio," said Smith, "these 14 states are served by lower freight rates from St. Louis than from the industrial cities of the Atlantic seaboard." In addition, he reported, St. Louis ships 19,987 cars a year, an average of five to 10 package cars a day to each of eight other states—New York, Nebraska, Georgia, Pennsylvania, California, Colorado, Minnesota and Florida.

"Industrially," he concluded, "the St. Louis metropolitan district produces approximately $1,300,000,000 worth of manufactured goods annually and has 3274 manufacturing establishments, which employ 181,000 workers, earning $192,000,000 annually. It is perhaps the most highly diversified district of any similar area in the United States. No one, nor any group of industries, predominates. This diversity insures a highly desirable stability of economic conditions."

SAYS JURORS CELEBRATED 'AFTER MURDER INDICTMENT

Member Testifies for Police Officers Accused of Bungling Inquiry Into McPherson Death.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A celebration by grand jurors following their indictment of Robert A. McPherson Jr. on a charge of killing his wife, Mrs. Virginia Hurley McPherson, several months ago was described yesterday by a witness before a police trial board.

Eugene Beatty, one of three members of the grand jury who testified in the defense of Police Inspector William E. Beatty and Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, said that after the grand jury voted to indict the young husband, six members of the jury gathered in one corner of the jury room and hilariously commiserated themselves. Beatty said one of the women on the jury was so shocked that smelling salts were administered to prevent her from fainting.

Luther L. Chamblin, another member of the jury, said, however, that he did not see the incident. Beatty and Chamblin, with Charles E. Nicholas, defended the two police officers accused of bungling the McPherson investigation. After the grand jury of which they were members had indicted McPherson, the charge was found illegal because of a technicality, and a second grand jury refused to return an indictment.

POLICE ROUND UP 40 HORSES AND MULES TRAMPLING LAWNS
Animals Used in Grading for New University City School Break Out of Corral.

Equipped with ropes and halters, University City police this morning engaged in a roundup of 40 horses and mules, which, after bars of a corral had been pushed down, broke out and trampled lawns in the neighborhood of the new high school building being constructed at Dorsett and Jackson avenues, some of them straying a mile or more.

The police were assisted by seven Negro teamsters, who, although sleeping in quarters near the corral, did not know of the loss of the stock until roused by police and ordered to join in the roundup.

Chief of Police Ward, arriving at headquarters before 7 o'clock, found three horses heading about the lawn of City Hall, a mile from the school site. The night detail worked overtime in response to calls of residents who telephoned about the straying animals, the property of the University Construction Co., which has a grading contract for the new building.

MITCHELL CALLS COURT CONGESTION BIG DRY PROBLEM

Delay in Trial Means Lax Law Enforcement, He Says in Letter to Senator Capper.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Congestion in the courts was termed by Attorney-General Mitchell today a major problem in the enforcement of the laws, including the prohibition laws.

Writing to Chairman Capper of the Senate committee having jurisdiction over affairs of the District of Columbia, Mitchell said, too much emphasis could not be placed on such a congestion, and he recommended appointment of two additional judges here. He added that the District was not the only place where such conditions exist.

All of the agencies of law enforcement, he continued, including detection, prosecution, judicial procedure and the prison system, must be adequate.

"If any one of them is overloaded and clogged," he said, "it slows down the others. The United States Attorneys charged with the duty of prosecuting the cases in court cannot be effective if the courts are not able promptly to dispose of the cases."

Answers Capper's Request.
The letter was written in answer to a request by Capper for suggestions for legislation to aid in administering the laws in Washington and to improve law enforcement.

The letter added that if the court machinery were enlarged as recommended, the department would see that the District Attorney was provided with adequate assistance to handle the cases ex-pediently.

With the letter, the Attorney-General enclosed a revision draft of a bill prepared by Senators Howell (Rep.), Nebraska, to supplement the present district enforcement act. The measure, in line with a recommendation of President Hoover, would extend the duties of the District officials and officers in matters relating to prohibition enforcement.

On the Senate floor recently, Howell severely criticized the administration for what he said was its failure to enforce the dry law in Washington.

Says Delay Means Laxity.
The Attorney-General emphasized that "delay in trial of criminal cases means lax law enforcement."

"Witnesses move away, die, or disappear," he said. "Acquittals result, cases have to be nolle prossed, guilty defendants thus escape punishment, and the whole machinery of law enforcement slows down, and we lose the distinct effect of speedy trial and punishment."

Referring to the District he said not only were criminal cases being delayed, but peddler injunction actions under the prohibition act, "which should be effective weapons in enforcement," also were being retarded.

"A prompt trial and disposition of such cases," he said, "would tend to deter proprietors and tenants of real estate from allowing the use of their property for the violation of the national prohibition act."

Mirror for Telescope Made By Spraying Quartz Heated In 3000-Degree Flame

Astronomers Observe Process of Constructing Reflector—Glass Not Used Because It Is Distorted by Temperature Changes.

By SCIENCE SERVICE.

BOSTON, Jan. 3.—America's leading astronomers for the first time yesterday saw the method by which huge telescopes of the future will be made. After a two-day meeting at Harvard University and Wellesley College, members of the American Astronomical Society journeyed to nearby Lynn, where Dr. Ellis Thomson, director of the General Electric Company's Thomson research laboratory, showed the preliminary work on quartz mirrors like those that will be used in the 200-inch telescope in California. The difficulty with glass is that its size alters rapidly with temperature, but with quartz there is practically no change. Take a stick of quartz a yard long, raise its temperature a thousand degrees Fahrenheit and it lengthens about one-fiftieth of an inch, far less than would glass.

Temperature Difficulty. This property makes it especially suitable for telescope mirrors, said Dr. Thomson, who is himself an astronomer as well as a physicist. Telescope mirrors are ground to the required dish-shaped curve by rubbing with another glass. The mirror is heated by friction and the edge warms up more than the center. This temperature change causes it to expand, and when it cools the edge is too low.

Therefore, in grinding a glass mirror, it is necessary to grind a little, then wait for it to return to normal temperature and then grind some more.

But with quartz, Dr. Thomson planned, the grinding can be carried right through to the finish. Even though it is harder than glass, he said, it is no harder to grind. For such reasons as these, and also for advantages that quartz has in actual use, astronomers connected with the California Institute of Technology have decided that the 200-inch telescope now under construction at Pasadena will have a mirror of quartz. Scientists at the Lynn laboratory are working on the blank from which the mirror will be made.

Until a year or so ago no discs of quartz of the requisite clarity had been made larger than a few inches in diameter. After many trials with varying degrees of success, a satisfactory method was invented of preparing the disc. A disc of white quartz is made which is too rough to take the polishing and silvering required for a satisfactory mirror. On this is sprayed melted quartz, and a layer as deep as desired, consisting of smooth, transparent quartz is quickly formed.

3000-Degree Flame.

This was the method that the astronomers saw demonstrated. Looking through special masks that gave the eyes protection from the brilliant glare of the flame, even though the intense heat made it impossible to watch for very long at a time, they saw a 3000-degree flame of hydrogen and oxygen deposit quartz at the rate of several pounds an hour. Above the tubes carrying the hydrogen to the flame are chambers containing finely ground quartz. This is sucked into the stream of gas like a medicinal solution into an atomizer, and is carried to the flame, burning with such intense heat. Here the quartz is melted, but when it reaches the cooler rough disc at only a thousand degrees it freezes solid.

Completed Mirror Shown.

The astronomers saw a completed telescope mirror disc, with a top layer of clear quartz an inch thick. The disc was 22 inches in diameter, which is the largest size that has yet been made. But they were told that the present limit of size is found in the furnaces in which the rough bottom disc is made. The largest furnaces now available will just take so large a disc, but one is now being constructed to make a rough disc 60 inches in diameter. Then one 100 inches in diameter will be made, and then the 200-inch disc.

When this will be completed is still uncertain, but the selection in charge expect to have a 60-inch disc ready during the coming autumn. As the 200-inch telescope will require a battery of smaller mirrors to work in conjunction with the big one, all of the smaller discs made in the development of the process will be of use.

SAID TO HAVE BEEN KIDNAPED

International Labor Defense Makes Charge; Charlotte, N. C., Police Deny Report.

By the Associated Press.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 3.—The International labor defense issued a statement here last night in which it declared Elbert Towner, youthful organizer of the National Textile Workers' Union, an affiliated organization, was kidnaped yesterday at Lumberton, where he had been engaged in organization work.

The statement said the International Labor Defense held Lumberton city officials and mill owners responsible for the alleged kidnaping. Sheriff B. P. McMillan of Robertson, who lives at Lumberton, however, said over long distance telephone that he had not heard anything about the kidnaping.

It was stated also at the Lumberton police headquarters that nothing was known there of the reported kidnaping. The officer in charge at the Police Department said he understood Towner left voluntarily for Charlotte.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The War Department has accepted the mark of 30,000 feet set by Lieut. Norman H. Ives of Rockwell Field, Cal., as an unofficial altitude record for P-13 pursuit type airplanes carrying a full military load.

So far as the records of the Air Corps show, this altitude, which was attained in tests conducted at the California field, is the highest reached by this type of plane when loaded.

Byrd Geological Party Finds Layer of Coal-Like Material In Mount Nansen Sandstone

Dr. Gould Climbs 6000 Feet on Steep
Crevasse Glacier to Reach Cap Rocks Thought to Be Volcanic Formations.

REAR ADMIRAL R. E. BYRD, more than two years ago when commanding Byrd Antarctic Expedition.

LITTLE AMERICA. Antarctic, Jan. 1.—We have a report from the geological party so interesting that I am going to send it north. Just as it came from Dr. Gould (Laurence M. Gould, leader of the party).

Wonder if it is generally realized that this little unit of our expedition is as the crow flies as far from us as Boston from Richmond. That is a very long distance in this country. The men have just completed a trip of 110 miles to the top of their present base, so that when they reach here the last part of January they will have traveled a dog team about 1200 miles since leaving Little America.

Not one of the party has ever before explored with teams, but every member of this party and the supporting party we regard as veteran trail hitters. The previous training came last summer when the dog team men, most of whom had never before driven a team, carried hundreds of tons of material over eight miles of the treacherous bay ice. Even now it was not seem possible, but here in Little America to prove it.

Now the trail hitters have done more than they set out to do. The season is easy to find. It is the spirit they put into their task, and some of them began to tick the job.

SAYS HE HEARD PLANE DAY EIELSON VANISHED

Dog Team Driver Bears Word
From Point 75 Miles North of Nome.

By the Associated Press.
NOME, Alaska, Jan. 3.—A dog

team driver today brought word to Nome that an airplane was heard soaring over Pilgrim Springs, an isolated community 75 miles north of here in a mountainous district, at midnight on Nov. 9, the day Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Earl Borland disappeared while flying to the fur trading ship Nanuk, icebound at North Cape, Siberia.

Arrangements probably will be made in the next few hours to send a plane to scout the area, if weather conditions permit, those in charge of the search said.

If the plane heard was Eielson's, it would indicate that he had turned back for Alaska after finding it impossible to land at North Cape and had been unable to land because of darkness and fog after reaching the Alaskan mainland. It was said he carried sufficient gasoline to have made the return trip easily.

Natives in the North Cape area have reported seeing Eielson's plane within 50 miles of North Cape, flying in the direction of Alaska. There was a dense fog in the area, they said.

Heretofore Eielson was thought to have come down in the area of North Cape and all rescue operations have been aimed in that direction.

The arrival here of two cabin planes from Fairbanks is anxiously awaited. One of the three planes sent there recently from Seattle, Wash., to participate in the search crashed soon after taking off for Nome yesterday and was demolished, but the pilot, Clifford Swartman, a Canadian, escaped injury.

Edsel Ford's Skipper Admits Error.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 3.—Capt. Oscar S. Anderson, commander of Edsel B. Ford's motor yacht

Sialia, admitted at the conclusion of his hearing today before the local board of the United States Steamboat Inspectors, that he was steering the wrong course on the night on Dec. 6, when the vessel was grounded on Hens and Chickens Reef in Buzzards Bay. Facing trial on a charge of negligence, Capt. Anderson appeared only slightly improved over his condition at a previous hearing on Dec. 15, which had to be postponed when it appeared that the master would collapse because of nervousness. His testimony today was given in almost a whisper.

SCHOOL SYSTEM IN CITY-COUNTY MERGER DEBATED

Prof. Reed at Committee Meeting Suggests Larger Suburban Districts Be Left Alone.

GERLING FAVORS LEGISLATIVE ACTION

Thinks Educational Consolidations Should Not Be Provided for in Constitutional Amendment.

The machinery for the discussion in detail of the phases of the projected scheme of governmental unification for St. Louis and St. Louis County, through the committees of the new Council on Metropolitan Government, is well under way. School statistics were introduced at the first meeting of the Education Committee at Cabanne Library last night and differences of opinion developed as to whether the schools should be included in the merger plan to be drafted by Prof. Thomas H. Reed.

The first session of the Parks and Recreation Committee was held today and that of the Planning and Zoning Committee yesterday. The Sewers Committee will meet tonight at the County Chamber of Commerce, Clayton, and the other nine committees will hold their first gathering this month.

Several members of the Education Committee expressed the opinion that any attempt to unify the county system or include it in the city system would be likely to cause defeat of the whole merger plan. However, Luther Ely Smith said the need for school consolidation was an eventuality that might as well be faced now. Varying opinions were expressed by others.

School Merger Discussed. Prof. Reed said the questions to be decided were whether the schools should be consolidated—if so, in what form, and if not, how the schools might be included in the merger. He said that advantages of school unification included cheaper operation and greater variety of instruction, but suggested because of the feeling of dependence in the county about schools, that the larger districts there be left alone but certain consolidation be proposed for rural districts.

Superintendent Gerling of the city school system declared that it was preferable to have a school consolidation carried out by the Legislature rather than by the constitutional amendment for the governmental merger, because it would be easier to amend or repeal a statute and because the Legislature has the power to make any desired change. He expressed doubt about the wisdom of extending jurisdiction of the city school board over the rural area.

Dean Isidor Loeb of the Washington University School of Business and Public Administration was elected chairman of the committee and W. Scott Haddock vice chairman. An executive committee will study the situation.

Comparative Cost of Schooling. Reed gave the committee the following statistical information: School expenditures per capita of enrollment last year were $50.10 in St. Louis, $112.45 on the average in the 20 larger or consolidated districts in the chief suburban area, and $64.62 in the 70 rural or outlying districts. Excluding merchants', manufacturers' and utilities' assessments, the assessed valuation of property per capita of enrollment was $16,416 in St. Louis, $1215 in the consolidated county districts and $4038, in the rural districts. In comparing expenditures, those in the city for various special educational features not obtainable in the county were omitted.

Clayton, with 1218 school children, had the largest expenditure per capita of enrollment in the suburbs—$172.19—but a rural district, Hyatt, had a larger, $183.34. The smallest was $15.35 in the Wild Horse District. The average number of pupils to each teacher was 31 in St. Louis, 30 in the suburbs and 29 in the county, but ranged up to 58 in the rural Bonfils district and down to five in the Hornecker District. The city had 115,459 pupils, the county 4772. Although University City has much greater population than Webster Groves and double the assessed valuation per capita enrollment, it had only 2582 children in school, compared with 5541 in the latter.

Average Salaries. The average annual salary for each teacher was $2125 in St. Louis, $1595 in the suburbs and $1041 in the county. University City paid $1977. The largest rural average was $1559 at Fern Ridge and the smallest $517 at Glencoe, except that the teacher at Wild Horse was reported to have received only $180 for a nine-month term. Thirty-three of the 70 rural districts have only one teacher each, while most of the others have but two.

The tax rate in the city was 37 cents on the $100 of valuation, the average in the suburbs was $1.45, ranging from 15 cents at Florissant to $2.25 at Webster Groves, and in the county, 62 cents, ranging from $1.55 at Maryland Heights to 10 cents at Hyatt. There is said to be a variation in assessment levels as between the city and the county.

School bonds outstanding, as of last July, were $2,166,000 in St. Louis, $5,423,000 in 17 of the 20 suburban districts and $514,050 in 37 of the 70 rural districts. St. Louis has financed its school buildings largely out of current revenue, so that its indebtedness is little more than one-third that of the suburbs, but the rural districts have refrained from going into debt in this way to a great extent, although a number of them lack modern facilities. The margin of bonding power left was $38,308,575 in the city, only $2,158,310 in all the suburbs and $1,402,645 in the rural sections.

Langsdorf Chosen Chairman. The Planning and Zoning Committee, meeting at the City Club yesterday, elected as chairman A. S. Langsdorf, who is vice chairman of the City Plan Commission, and as vice chairman, Walter O. Pennell, chief engineer of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. An Executive Committee was appointed, comprising Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission; William Wedemeyer, Albert Wenslick, County Highway Engineer Jablonsky, Pennell and A. P. Greenfelder.

Reed, describing municipal planning as a fundamental of government, which doubtless should be included in the merger proposal, said the committee should determine whether planning was a function to be carried on as a unit in Greater St. Louis, what the nature of the planning body should be, the extent of authority it should have and whether the Department of Commerce model zoning act should be adopted. There was a discussion as to the degree to which zoning should be centralized, a question to be taken up by the Executive Committee.

Attention was called to the possible conflict of zoning rules as between suburbs. No objection was made to centralized planning for such things as highways.

HANGS HIMSELF WHEN INDICTED IN $500,000 FRAUD

New Yorker Named With Nine Others in Bankruptcy Ring Takes Life in His Office.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Abraham Lauterstein, 44 years old, of Brooklyn, indicted with nine others on charges of forming a bankruptcy ring to engineer the $500,000 failure of the National Home Outfitting Co. of Pittsburgh and New York, last night ended his life. Lauterstein's body, hanging from a water pipe by a ash cord in the office, was found by his partner, Harry Schachter, who was also indicted. Schachter summoned police.

On Lauterstein's desk lay a note directing his stenographer to draw all his money from the bank and give it to his family. Attached to the note were two signed blank checks. Schachter told police that depression due to the announcement of his indictment had probably caused Lauterstein to take his life.

In addition to Lauterstein and Schachter, the men sought under the indictments, on charges of using the mails to defraud, are: Morris Sanford, Morris Malstsky and Michael Gellis, all of Watertown, Conn.; Benjamin Hones of Pittsburgh; Jack Lerner of Manhattan; Michael M. Kantor, Benjamin Elford and Morris Chauls, all of Brooklyn.

The National Home Outfitting Co. was petitioned into bankruptcy last July. On Aug. 1, after agents of the National Association of Credit Men had testified before Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard in New York that large trucks of merchandise had been moved from the New York City branch to lots and stores, Isidore Shapiro was appointed receiver.

It is charged that the concern obtained from Pittsburgh banks a $250,000 credit rating, through fraudulent representations made by Sanford to bankers when it was organized in 1927, and that it bought to the limit of this credit.

The only assets discovered so far, it is charged, is a truckload of china seized in Jamaica, L. I., after detectives employed by the Credit Men's Association had trailed a truck from the New York City branch store.

DETECTIVE WHO INVESTIGATED ROTHSTEIN KILLING DEMOTED

Whelan Says Patrick Flood, on Trial by Department, Showed Ignorance of Duties.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Detective Patrick Flood, one of those who investigated the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, was demoted yesterday to the rank of patrolman. The announcement was made by Commissioner Grover A. Whelan as Flood's departmental trial for dereliction of duty in connection with the Rothstein case. Although Flood's trial has not been completed his immediate demotion was ordered, Whelan said, because his testimony showed ignorance and complete lack of understanding of his "routine duties."

In his testimony Flood told how he had been notified on the night of Nov. 4, 1928, of the shooting of Rothstein and of his investigation, the next morning in Room 349 in the Park Central Hotel, and his examination of the man he found there. Flood said he questioned Tom and Frank McManus, brother and brother-in-law of Rothstein, who were acquitted of murdering Rothstein, and Hyman Miller.

DETECTIVE WHO INVESTIGATED ROTHSTEIN KILLING DEMOTED

Whelan Says Patrick Flood, on Trial by Department, Showed

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Detective Patrick Flood, one of those who investigated the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, was demoted yesterday to the rank of patrolman. The announcement was made by Commissioner Grover
A. Whelan at Flood's departmental trial for dereliction of duty in con-

Although Flood's trial has not

In his testimony Flood told how

The detective said he released

He said the inspector told him warrant arresting the three as witnesses.

$2,000,000 INHERITANCE TAX
This Amount on R. H. Donnelly Estate Approved by Court.

By the Associated Press.
WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 3.—The United States Government and the State of Illinois will realize $2-000,856 in inheritance taxes on the estate of Reuben R. Donnelly, Chicago publisher, who died Feb.
25.

The tax figures, fixed by agreement of Government, State and county authorities, were approved yesterday by County Judge P. L.
Persons. The Federal tax was estimated at $550,608 and deposit to that amount was made. The state collected $1,476,248. The total was one of the largest on record in Illinois. Donnelly's estate was given a final valuation of $12,887-131, of which the largest item was $3,000 shares of Montgomery Ward common stock worth $9,886,000 at an agreed value of $113 a share.

$30,000 NECKLACE, STOLEN OR LOST, DELIVERED TO POLICE

Jewels Owned by Mrs. W. E. Gil-mour of New York Who Missed Them on Shopping Tour.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Mrs. W.
E. Gilmour's $30,000 pearl necklace, lost or stolen Nov. 22 while she was on a Fifth avenue shopping tour with Geraldine Farrar, turned up mysteriously New Year's eve, in a gift-like box addressed to Detective Lieut. Thomas Dugan and left on his desk by an unidentified messenger at the East Sixty-seventh street police station.

Lieut. Dugan and Assistant District Attorney Harold Hastings had been especially interested in the case since the middle of December, when a mysterious telephone call to the insurance company offered to return the necklace for $10,000. Police and Hastings were consulted, and an effort was made to go through with the $10-000 deal, with detectives ready to take charge when a go-between appeared. But whoever held the jewels was too wary to fall for that, and the deal did not go through.

The reappearance of the pearls was made known yesterday by District Attorney Crahn.

ROBBER SHOOTS
JEWELER, FLEES EMPTY-HANDED

Wounds Albert Troxell, 1444 South Vandeventer Av. Above Eye When Latter Reaches for Pistol.

Albert Troxell, 41 years old, proprietor of a jewelry shop at 1444 South Vandeventer avenue, was shot above the left eye by a hold-up man last night. Troxell is in a serious condition at city hospital and physicians say he may lose the sight of the eye.

Troxell was behind a counter in his store at 6:30 o'clock when a young man walked in, drew a pistol and ordered hands up. Troxell raised his hands, but the robber struck him in the face and he reached a point where his own pistol was kept. He then stooped suddenly to reach the weapon. The robber fired a shot which passed through the show case and wounded Troxell.

Despite his pain, Troxell obtained his pistol and fired a shot as his assailant ran out the front door, without loot. The bullet passed through the door. The assailant escaped.

The Pierce News Co., 514 South Broadway, held up for $600.
The Pierce News Co., 514 South Broadway, was robbed of $600 at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when two young men, holding handkerchiefs over their faces, held up George C. John, manager, and six employees. The robbers ran south on Broadway and escaped.

Conrad Hewson, manager of a Kroger store at 1548 McCausland avenue, was robbed of $90 an hour later, and Louis Bierman, grocer at 2465 Washington boulevard, was held up for $73 as he was about to close his store.

Stopping his truck in front of 604 Bates street, Lee Allen, driver for the Langstons Dyeing & Cleaning Co., was held up yesterday afternoon and robbed of $14.

Mrs. Stella Kinkade, 6045 Thekla avenue, reported to police that her purse containing $1 was seized by one of two men who accosted her as she was standing at Newstead and Farlin avenues. They escaped in an automobile.

A Negro snatched a purse containing 40 cents and an $11 pay check from Mrs. Bridget Murray, 1731A O'Fallon street, while she walked along Eighteenth street, between Division and O'Fallon streets, about 6:30 p. m.

ASSAULTS WOMAN AFTER KILLING ESCORT, TAKES POISON

Negro with Cork Leg Sought by Baltimore Police After Motorist Rescues Victim.
By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 3.—A Negro who had killed her escort and assaulted her forced Mrs. Dorothy Burgess to sit with him in an automobile while he took poison and told her his name, address and life history while he waited for death, she told Baltimore detectives today.

The man fled when the headlights of another car appeared on the lonely road after they had sat for three-quarters of an hour, and the driver of the other machine took her back to the city.

Mrs. Burgess tried to write the Negro's name and address on the back of a photograph of Reuben Heyman, her friend who was slain, but her fountain pen worked badly, she told Captain Burns of the detective bureau. She retraced in a police car the route she said Heyman was forced to drive to the lonely spot where his body was found. The Negro she said shot Heyman who tried to defend her.

After checking the address police began a search for Alonzo Price, 35-year-old chauffeur and World War veteran, with a cork leg. His wife said he took a $50 war bonus and disappeared yesterday.

The man who assaulted her showed her a bottle marked poison, took a tablet from it and said: "I might as well meet my wife in heaven," Mrs. Burgess told the police.

DECLARES EADS BRIDGE NEEDS $52,000 REPAIRS

Director Brooks Also Tells Mayor Annual Upkeep Would Be $10,000.

In a report prepared for Mayor Miller, Robert B. Brooks, Director of Streets and Sewers, states that if the city takes over the upper deck of Eads Bridge, as contemplated in a proposed ordinance, it should spend $52,000 the first year for renewals.

After six years, during which annual maintenance would be $10,000, it would be necessary to reconstruct the roadway, the report states.

Henry Miller, president of the Terminal Railroad Association, told the Post-Dispatch that the roadway of the bridge was completely reconstructed about three years ago and that this work, together with other permanent improvements made in the structure supporting the upper deck, cost about $1,000,000. Since then, he said, annual maintenance, including the space between street car rails, has been about $15,000.

This work included replacement of metal parts, Miller said, and strengthening of the structure wherever necessary with the expectation that it would be made serviceable for many years. At that time the approaches were repaved with granite blocks on concrete base and the main span with wood blocks with a top surface of asphalt. The surface now is rough in spots where the asphalt has broken off. Heavy traffic that would follow making the bridge free of tolls undoubtedly would cause rapid wear on this surface.

Concrete and Granite Paving. The entire span should be paved with concrete and granite blocks. President Miller of the Terminal said, and the Terminal's program contemplates such paving when the wood block surface wears out. Renewals in the bridge structure recommended by Brooks, with estimated cost, are:

Fence on main span built of lattice design iron and cast iron posts should be rebuilt with angle posts, lattice panels, and pipe top rail, $24,500.

New board walk for pedestrians, $5000.

Repair and reinforcement of outer fence and walk on east approach, $7500.

New iron fence on east approach between outer roadway and railroad tracks, $7000.

New wheel guard between pedestrian walk and roadway, $4000.

Commenting on the proposal for new guard rails Brooks said the present rail is of the angle type, tapering each way, making it easy for vehicles to climb.

No Estimate of Cost. No estimate of the cost of reconstructing the roadway was given by Brooks. He gave the area of the main span now paved with wood blocks at 12,861 square yards and that of the approaches paved with granite blocks at 6529 square yards described as in good condition.

The area between the street car rails would be maintained by the Terminal under its contract with the traction lines and this apparently accounts for Brooks' estimate of $10,000 for annual maintenance cost to the city as compared with $15,000 it has been costing the Terminal.

The proposed ordinance sponsored by Mayor Miller and providing for use of the Municipal Bridge by the Terminal lines is being considered by a special Bridge Committee of the Board of Aldermen with Walter J. G. Neun, the board's president, as chairman.

Measures provided that the city would pay the Terminal $200,000 a year rental for the upper deck of the Eads Bridge and then could remove the tolls if it wished except as to the traction lines which would continue to pay rental to the Terminal.

The Terminal would be authorized to construct the necessary approaches to enable it to use the Municipal Bridge and, the city would agree to purchase these approaches, applying thereon any excess revenue it received from the Terminal for use of Municipal Bridge over the amount required to pay the rental and maintenance on the upper deck of Eads Bridge and interest to the Terminal.

Mayor Miller estimated the city's annual receipts from the Terminal for use of Municipal Bridge would be $100,000 and that $100,000 of this would be available for payment on the purchase at cost of the new approaches.

GUNMEN IN AMBUSH KILL GIRL, 15, AND SHOOT MOTHER

Shots Fired as Family Alights From Auto at Rochester, N. Y., Home.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Met by a volley of shots from the revolvers of two unidentified gunmen concealed in the back yard of their home last night, Eleanor Infante, 15 years old, was fatally wounded and her mother, Mrs. Salvatore Infante, 46, fell seriously wounded at the rear door of their home. The two were shot as they alighted from the family automobile. The father, son and small daughter escaped the bullets of the assassins, who fled after the wounded screamed.

The daughter died in a hospital shortly after the attack. Police think the shots were intended for the father.

SECOND SESSION ON REPARATIONS PLAN CONVENES

Expansion and Revision of Young Treaty on German War Debt Before Hague Meeting.

EACH UNLIKELY TO OFFER OPPOSITION

dea of Sanction in Case of Default May Be Only Point Berlin Delegates Will Object To.

the Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 3.—Final naming, expansion and revision of the Young plan was the object of the meeting of 13 nations to meet here today for the second session on reparations.

When they have concluded this session, unless some unforeseen hitch develops, the Young plan will be turned back to the Governments for ratification and its schedule of payments over 59 years actually to replace the present Dawes plan.

A meeting of from 10 days to two weeks was looked for, but were those not so sanguine as pending matters could be disposed of in that time. Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, was to leave here in time for the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, Jan. 12, which the French delegation will attend.

The problem which possibly will be most discussed and draw attention here, is the demand that the League of Nations be eliminated from the creditor nations' reparations policy.

Germany shows Good Faith.

Although parliamentary ratification has not been given, the German Government has pledged its faith in acceptance of the Young plan, and its intention to abide by its provisions. But in the event some circumstance should arise which would prevent Germany from doing so, the League of Nations does not wish to have the League discredited, or other penalties imposed to exact further payments.

The Reich hopes that some sort of arbitration board can be provided which will determine responsibility in the event of default on payments, and then employ actions if they are found necessary. This view, somewhat modified, also is held by Briand.

Other French Government officials are known to be less inclined to abandon what they consider a guarantee that the German annual payments will be made, and therefore France meets its war debt and her obligations from the money obtained. Broadly speaking, the French position on the remaining reparations seems to favor this position.

Andre Tardieu, French Premier, expected today to see Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose firm stand for turn to limit British of certain concessions on reparations may prolong the first Hague conference. The concessions finally made to the British Government by France most and it was sought, since there was considerable French popular dissatisfaction with the arrangement, that there might be some further discussion of the matter.

"Oriental Reparations." Problems involved in the so-called Oriental reparations, those of exaction from Hungary and Rumania, also are before the conference. It was possible that might be evaded for some later conference. Phases of the scheme for the Bank of International Settlements were certain to reach the conference.

The meeting is the fourth of the recent reparations conferences, the first being that of the financial experts at Paris last year, which the German reparations plan was spread over 59 payments with a present value of about $18,000,000. The second was the first Hague conference, called for certain revisions of the Young plan to meet political considerations.

Later at Baden-Baden, Germany, financial experts of the interested nations arranged for founding of the Bank of International Settlements which is to handle the reparations payments. Premier Tardieu and Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, had a long talk. The meeting was cordial and it is understood develops complete agreement on several lines between the delegations.

Edwin C. Wilson, first secretary of the American Embassy in Paris, is present for the United States.

SECOND SESSION ON REPARATIONS PLAN CONVENES

Expansion and Revision of Young Treaty on German War Debt Before Hague

REICH UNLIKELY TO

Idea of Sanction in Case of

THE HAGUE, Jan. 3.—Final meeting, expansion and revision of the Young plan was the object of representatives of 13 nations met here today for the second session on reparations.
When they have concluded this session, unless some unforeseen hitch develops, the Young plan will be sent back to the Governments for ratification and its schedule of payments over 18 years actually replace the present Dawes plan.

A meeting of from 10 days to two weeks was looked for, but there were those not so sanguine pending matters could be discussed in that time. Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, was to leave here in time for the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, Jan. 13, while other delegates here will attend a London naval conference.

Germany Shows Good Faith.
Although parliamentary ratification has not been given, the German Government has pledged its faith in acceptance of the plan, and its intention to meet its obligations under its provisions. But in some circumstances should cessation of payment Germany does not wish to have the plan rescinded, and it has imposed to exact further payments.

The Reich hopes that some sort of arbitration board can be proposed which will determine responsibility in the event of default, and then employ sanctions if they are found necessary. This view, somewhat modified, also is held by Briand.

After French Government officials are known to be less inclined to abandon what they consider an annuity that the German annuity will be made and, therefore, the French must be able to meet their obligations from the money obtained. Broadly speaking, the remaining nations seem to favor
this position.

Andre Tardieu, French Premier, expected today to see Philip Lamont, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose firm stand for continued reparations on the basis of the Young plan has been a major factor in the first Hague conference. The concessions finally made to the British Government last year, since then, was considered the French popular satisfaction with the arrangement, that the matter might be some further discussion of the matter.

"Official Reparations." Problems involved in the so-called official reparations, those exacting from Hungary and Greece, also are before the committee. It was possible these might be evaded for the time being committee.

The meeting is the fourth of the series of reparations conferences, the first being the first Hague conference at Paris last year, which the German reparations plan was spread over 50 payments to a present value of about $10-$12,000,000. The second was the Hague conference called for revision of the Young plan to meet political considerations.

P. S. Co. Lost $86,390 During 17 Weeks of Higher Fare Schedule

Street Car Lines Collected 4,822,787 Fewer Fares in That Time Than in the Corresponding Period of 1928.

In 17 weeks of the experimental street car fare up to Dec. 22, the St. Louis Public Service Co. collected 4,822,787 fewer fares than in the corresponding period of 1928. This was a decrease of 5.9 per cent in revenue, but proportionately smaller decrease in revenue.
The experimental rate, instituted last Aug. 26 by order of the State Public Service Commission, fixed the adult cash fare at 10 cents and provided for weekly commutation tickets at 12 cents for 10 cents with additional rides in the week by ticket holders for five cents. The street car company had complained that it was falling behind more than $1,000,000 a year to receive the return to which it was entitled on the Public Service Commission's valuation of its property, and had applied for a rate of 10 cents cash or four tickets for 35 cents.

The fare had been eight cents straight for more than a year, and the Commission was of the opinion a rate that would give regular riders a reduction would attract more business to the street cars. Accordingly it devised the commutation ticket plan by means of which a person riding 12 times in a week would pay a fare of only seven and one-half cents with additional five-cent rides reducing the average still further.

Another Experimental Rate.
Results of 17 weeks' trial, nearly one-third of a year, have shown the error of the Commission's reasoning, and on the company's complaint a new rate, still experimental, was made effective last Monday, increasing the price of 12-ride tickets to $1 and children's fare from three cents to five cents.
The number of fares collected in the 17 weeks of the trial schedule was 56,829,662, and in the corresponding 17 weeks of 1928, Aug.

27 to Dec. 22, the number was 51-652,450.
Along with the decline in riding
there was a reduction in revenue but proportionately smaller. Revenue for the 17 weeks was $2,214-677, compared with $2,441,067 in the corresponding period of the preceding year, a decrease of $226-390. That this decrease was not greater was due to the large proportion of revenue passengers—40 per cent—paying the 10-cent rate.
On the basis of 17 weeks' trial
the company's revenue for a year would have been approximately $250,000 smaller than under the 8-cent fare, still further increasing the amount by which the company falls to earn the return of 7.14 per cent on its Public Service Commission valuation to which it claims it is entitled, under State regulation.

No Hope for More Riders.
What effect the new experimental fare will have remains to be seen. Since it is an increase it holds out no hope of attracting more riders as a means of building up revenue, but rather is an attempt to get more revenue out of a smaller number of riders.
The company's revenue for a year under the 8-cent fare, although not equal to 7.14 per cent on the valuation of $2,500,000, did provide a return of more than 7 per cent on the price of $49,100,000 which the present owners paid for the property, and gave a net income for holders of common stock after payment of bond interest and preferred stock dividends, equivalent to 26 per cent on the amount the owners paid into the company's treasury for the stock, which was $12 50 a share.

OPPOSITION OF SOVIET LAND POLICY EXPELLED FROM FARMS

Instructions Issued to Every Village; Collectivism Not Enforced on Menonites.

MOSCOW, Jan. 3.—Expulsion from collectivized Soviet farms of all kulaks (rich peasants) and other "enemies of the state" who have supported them in their opposition to the Government's agricultural policies has been ordered by Moscow.

It was learned from a reliable source that the Government recently sent instructions to every village Soviet throughout Russia to begin at once mass expulsion of all persons suspected of being "from within" to demoralize the peasants who have joined collectivists.

Notwithstanding the determination of the Government to carry forward its collectivization program, the Soviet Cabinet has decided not to force entrance into farm collectives upon the German-Russian colonies in the Soviet Union. This decision is explained here as a victory for the Menonites, peasants of German origin who recently left their villages in large numbers, declaring they would go to Germany or Canada rather than give up their individual farming rights.

FILIPINO LEADERS ARRIVE

Independence Commission in Washington for Hearing Jan. 15.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A Philippine Independence Commission arrived here today to prepare for Congressional Committee hearings on various independence resolutions. The first hearing will be held before the Senate Territories Committee, Jan. 15.

The commission sent to work for liberation of the islands, includes Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the Philippine House of Representatives and head of the commission;
Dr. Pedro Gil, minority leader of the House; Jose Castillo, Manila attorney; and Marcelino Lichauco, technical advisers to the commission. Arriving at the Union Station at 8 a. m., the commissioners were greeted by a large group of Washington Filipinos headed by Pedro Guevara, senior resident commissioner, and Mrs. Roxas, who came to Washington from a European tour recently to await her husband's arrival.

TO HURT IN COMMUNIST RIOT

Policemen Wounded Stopping Demonstrations in Rumanian Town.
By the Associated Press.

TEMESVAR, Rumania, Jan. 3.—
Ten policemen were wounded and 85 Communists arrested today in riotous scenes caused by a demonstration of Communists who attempted to march on the City Hall.

There was one of the early arrivals although Germany and the United States have come to an agreement on the reparations payment of German reparations aside from the Young plan. The German delegation was 80 strong while the British numbered 60.

SPANISH PREMIER MOVES TO ABOLISH HIS DICTATORSHIP

Primo de Rivera Submits Proposal to Restore Constitution After 7 Years to Cabinet.

DECLARES KING HAS GIVEN APPROVAL

Intends to Call Election to Determine Whether Government Has People's Confidence.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Jan. 3.—Gen. Primo de Rivera, the Spanish Premier, yesterday laid before the country a plan providing for a return to constitutional guarantees and parliamentary government by next September. That would be just seven years after the suspension of parliamentary government following the coup d'etat by which De Rivera seized the reins.

At the same time the Premier denied that any immediate governmental changes were contemplated or that a crisis existed in his cabinet. He said King Alfonso had approved the plan after studying it since its submission to the Monarch on Tuesday.
The plan calls first for reorganization of the patriotic union. This is the political organization which De Rivera early in his dictatorship.
It has been carefully sponsored by him ever since and its various committees have been virtually carrying on municipal and other local administrations.

Election Next Month.

In the attempt to get new blood into the administration of the party, elections for provincial delegates to its central body will be held in February. If these turn out in a manner approved by the dictatorship the next step will be popular elections for municipal councils and provincial legislatures.
But only about one-fourth of the present membership of these bodies is to be changed.

The ultimate fate of the present
National Assembly is undecided. It has a legal life until Sept. 12, 1930.
Whether it is to continue in its present capacity of being purely advisory, or whether it is to have a modicum of true parliamentary powers, will not be determined until the elections in the provinces and cities have shown the trend of popular choice for public officials.

Meanwhile the National Assembly is to discuss a proposed new constitution. This debate is likely to continue well into the summer.
The censorship prevented a full discussion of the much heralded
"political plan" and it was received with mixed feelings in authoritative quarters.

Dr. Delany's expectation of a bumper wheat crop in 1928 at the sun-spot peak was followed by the greatest production of any year in Canadian history.

ASTRONOMER PREDICTS CANADA'S 1930 WEATHER

Light Rainfall to Reduce Crops, Increase Danger of Forest Fires, He Says.

OTTAWA, Jan. 3.—Lighter rainfall, reduced crops, better radio reception, greater danger from forest fires, fewer electrical storms, increased fur production—these are some of the possibilities suggested by an astronomer for this year.

Dr. Ralph E. Delany of the Dominion Observatory looks for a lessening of the sun's ultra violet rays. While hesitating to make definite predictions on account of the vagaries of the sun's activities, investigation leads him to believe 1930 will see a reduction in rainfall with the many results which that entails.

All forms of electrical transmission improve when ultra-violet rays are weak. Static is lessened and radio reception is favorably affected. The aurora borealis, which obstructs long-distance telegraphic communication, becomes infrequent.

LINDBERGH SAYS WOMAN HAS PLACE IN AVIATION

Her Part Will Be Parallel to That She Assumed With Automobiles, He Thinks.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 3.—Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh, with Mrs.
Lindbergh, looking like Eskimos in their cold-weather flying togs, had a self-confident grin today for reporters who asked him what he thought about woman's place in aviation. "That's difficult to say,"
he said, "but I'll say this—woman's part in aviation will parallel that which she assumed with automobiles. There's no reason why she shouldn't have a place in the field."

The Lindberghs hopped off for Waynoka, Ok., continuing their westward inspection flight over T.A.T. lines.

PERKINS MEDAL TO H. H. DOW

Development of Chlorine and Magnesium Reason for Award.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Dr. Herbert H. Dow of Midland, Mich., today was announced as the winner of the highest awards in chemistry for his high-speed Transmutant cable, broken by an earthquake last Nov. 18, had been restored to service.

The broken ends of the cable were found 30 miles apart, one of them at a depth of two and one-half miles, and were raised to the surface. Then a new length of cable was spliced into the 30-mile gap. The company expects to have another cable repaired by today. The quake caused 21 breaks in trans-Atlantic cables; the trouble centering about 270 miles south of Nova Scotia.

PRINCE OF WALES OFF ON NEW AFRICAN HUNT

Sails From Southampton to Continue Trip Interrupted
by King's Illness.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Prince of Wales, who will resume his African hunting trip interrupted by the illness of King George more than a year ago, left St. James' Palace this afternoon for Southampton. At Southampton he took the steamship Kenilworth Castle for the voyage to Cape Town, whence he will proceed inland to the interior.

An hour before the heir to the throne left Waterloo Station, the platforms were jammed with persons waiting to catch a glimpse of him. By the time he arrived by motor car all available space, even to the tops of railings and the roofs of automobiles, had been filled with cheering spectators.

The cheers increased to a loud roar under the arched glass roof of the station as the Prince, dressed in the royal car did through the barrier and came to a stop opposite the Prince's reserved coach.

The Prince, who was attired in a light brown coat over a navy blue suit, doffed his bowler hat in response to the greeting and then shook hands with his brothers, the Duke of Gloucester and Prince George.

Turning, he saw Princess Louise,
the Duchess of Argyll, his aunt,
who kissed him and wished him good luck.

After a last handshake with his brothers and a final wave of his hand, the Prince jumped on the train, the roar of the engine being drowned by the sound of renewed cheering. Until the train was well out of sight the Prince remained standing in the corridor.

On arriving at the Southampton docks the Prince walked straight up a covered gangway on board the Kenilworth Castle. He was greeted informally by the Mayor of Southampton. The Prince retired almost immediately to his cabin and remained there while the ship steamed away into a stiff Channel breeze.

FIFTY VICTIMS OF MOVIE FIRE BURIED AT PAISLEY, SCOTLAND

Business Stops, Flags Put at Half Staff and Halls on Residences Drawn.

By the Associated Press.
PAISLEY, Scotland, Jan. 1.—
Fifty of the 72 children killed today in the moving picture theater and panic were buried today.
Business was suspended and flags dropped at half staff on public buildings. Bells on residences were drawn as the hearse at brief intervals for five hours carried the coffins to the cemetery.

Twenty-six of the children were Roman Catholics and the bodies of these were taken from their homes
last night to Catholic churches,
where short services were held.
A special requiem mass was held today simultaneously with services at other churches prior to burial.
In Paisley, Scotland, a memorial service was held and the President Magistrate, Town Councillors and others of Paisley, Glasgow and Renfrewshire joined with the townspeople here in the service.

U. S. PUBLIC DEBT REDUCED $1,000,000,000 LAST YEAR

Down to $16,500,000,000 Jan. 1; $91,544,655 to Treasury on That Date.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A decrease of more than $1,000,000,000 in the public debt of the United States in the last 12 months was shown today in the Treasury statement for Dec. 31.

The gross debt of the nation Dec.
31, 1928, was $17,509,749,135, while last Tuesday it amounted to $16-500,921,531. The debt reached its highest peak Aug. 31, 1919, in the post-war period, the figures being $26,596,701,648.

On the last day of the old year,
which ended the first six months of the 1929 fiscal year, the Treasury had collected $2,077,529,561 from all sources and had expended $1,985,894,861, leaving a surplus of $91,634,700. In the same period last year the income amounted to $1,857,429,075, while the expenditures were $2,026,111,722.

Income taxes again played an important part in increasing the Government revenues, amounting to $1,195,815,580 in the six months as compared with $1,012,795,591 in the same months of the previous year. For December the income taxes also showed an appreciable gain, a total of $151,500,700 having been collected, as compared with $421,701,592 last December.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT-ELECT IN CHICAGO FOR TWO DAYS

Ortiz Rubio Arrives From Detroit, Where He Had Luncheon at Ford's House.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, arrived here today for a two-day visit.

A detective and police squad met him at the train from Detroit.
Mich., and escorted the delegation to a hotel.

In his 30-hour visit to Detroit
he saw the Ford Motor Co. plant at River Rouge and had luncheon in Henry Ford's home.

The President-elect and members of his party attended a theatrical performance there last night, rounding out a day which began officially with a reception at the city hall.

No further demonstrations like that held by about 200 alleged Communists as the party arrived
Wednesday night marred the brief visit. Ortiz Rubio yesterday accepted the apologies of Mayor John C. Lodge for the demonstration and passed the incident off as of no consequence.

Collins of St. Louis as toastmaster.

be presented in the form of a revue on Monday and Tuesday, with afternoon and evening perform-

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Countrywide Reaction to Dog Story.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE Houston Press carried an article relative to a little dog who was found with his mouth sewed up. I cannot conceive of a monster in human form who could be so depraved and pitiless as to inflict such cruelty upon a dumb, defenseless creature.

BLANCHÉ M. PERK.
Houston, Tex.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
After reading in the Baltimore Sun of the inhuman treatment accorded to a poor dog, I wish to say the same should be meted out to the human culprit. I wish I were in position to contribute to the reward and share who could be so depraved and pitiless as to inflict such cruelty upon a dumb, defenseless creature.

MARY F. ELLINGER.
Baltimore, Md.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I HAVE just read the full details of the unfortunate dog that was found with its mouth sewed up and as a friend of all animals I desire to express my personal appreciation for your interest. The perpetrator of this most heinous deed must not remain unnamed and, cost what it may, he must be punished to the full extent of the law.

JOHN T. MENDES.
New Orleans, La.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
JUST read in the Post Worth papers about the poor fellow who sewed up the little puppy's mouth. My blood just boiled when I read it.

JUANITA VELMA SCHMIDTKE.
Fort Worth, Tex.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I HAVE just read of the dog, cold, sick, starving, his lips sewed shut by some depraved in your town. It makes the very soul sick. How can we boast of civilization's advance when such things happen in the heart of our great cities?

L. MAC CLURE CLARK.
Astoria, Ore.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
PERMIT me to commend your editorial, 1929's Good-By, in the Dec. 31 issue.

In my humble opinion it bids fair to be in line for the Pulitzer prize for the best editorial of the year.

MRS. A. B. F.
Personal Property Tax Dodgers.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN view of the fact that you have so consistently advocated higher taxes, I am at a loss to understand why you pay no attention to dodgers of personal property tax, notwithstanding the fact that this has been brought to your attention a number of times. Only recently there was a good letter on this subject signed by a "Taxpayer."

I know men who have lived in St. Louis all their lives and have never paid one cent of personal property tax. Is this matter so insignificant that it doesn't deserve your attention, or do you think that the owner of real property should foot the entire bill? Certainly there are a lot of non-property owners better able to pay a tax than many who own small homes.

ANOTHER TAXPAYER.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A GOOD deal of the old moon's popularity was due to the fact that they were so very attractive and comfortable. Would suggest this to Mr. Hoover's commission: Have as many open saloons as possible, but forbid attractions and comforts of every description, with standing room only. Have them constructed entirely of glass and erected in places where entire interior could be seen from every direction.

MRS. NELLIE B. ADAMS.
Proposed Fencing of Reber Place.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
NOTHING "Taxpayer's" protest concerning the city administration's "ergo of street widening." I can sympathize with him, being myself in one such "beneficial district," with two possibly three more in prospect. This not being sufficient, the city recently posted the regulation street improvement signs on Reber place (on which I reside), calling for the paving of that street for one block, from Broadway to Herford street, at a cost of approximately $20,000. Quite a sum for all of us as the street is hard-surfaced, in good condition and can be maintained with very little expense. It is not a through traffic artery, being blocked at the west end by almost unobtainable Herford street, a sewer pipe works and Missouri Pacific railroad, and serves only the residents of the one block.

LOUISIANA AND FLOOD CONTROL

United States Senator Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana has discovered that flood control is "emergency work" and that its most crucial point is the protection of New Orleans. That apparently has not occurred to all the representatives of Lower Mississippi states, some of whom held up the Arkansas and Louisiana floodways for property settlements.

Compensation for floodway rights has not been figured on these floodways as in the Missouri floodway. The difference was that existing protection of the Missouri floodway is to be reduced by lowering the river bank levees whereas the levees at the head of the lower river floodways are to stay as they are. In fact, they are to be strengthened, although not heightened. For this reason it was considered that protection would not be refused and the floodways would not be subjected to "additional" flood water, the basis for compensation under the flood control act.

The view has been advanced, indeed, that the Government would in reality create no new floodway at all in Arkansas or Louisiana. Both the Reuss and Atchafalaya basins had been subject to overflow in great floods. The effect of Federal flood control would be to turn new water upon these natural floodways, but to limit the old overflow to about half its former extent. Actual "floodway construction" will be to build guide levees through the Atchafalaya and the Reuss basins. These guide levees are expected to protect 52.3 per cent of the Atchafalaya Basin; 52.4 per cent of the Reuss Basin.

That view, however, appears in process of disintegration, whatever may be the factors in the process. Congressional spokesmen who urged changes which would remove all doubt of "additional" flood waters need no longer plead for injury. The act not only is to come before Congress for "broadening"; we are assured that army engineers are reconsidering it now.

In this situation interest focuses upon this clause of the flood control act:

Provided, That in all cases where the execution of the flood control plan herein adopted results in benefits to property such benefits be taken into consideration by way of reducing the compensation to be paid.

Congress was in its most generous mood when the flood control act was passed. Disaster was fresh in mind. The crisis which New Orleans faced in the flood of 1927 was much more in mind, for example, than it seems to have been for those Southern representatives who obtained delay of the floodways, the project's sole reliance against great floods. Congress may not be more disposed now to draw on the National Treasury for the land owners of these floodways.

Congress may ask: What of the benefits to the remainder of Arkansas and Louisiana? What of the protected 52.3 per cent of the Atchafalaya Basin and the protected 52.4 per cent of the Reuss? What of the protected millions in persons and property in metropolitan New Orleans?

Finally, Senator Ransdell was quoted as emphasizing that "the Federal Government has not the right to jeopardize the lives and property of nearly 3,000,000 citizens of the Mississippi Valley." We trust the Louisiana Senator has not forgotten, in his anxiety for speedy flood control, that President Hoover consented to delay in the Arkansas and Louisiana floodways "with the understanding that representatives from these states assume responsibility for such a course."

We agree with the President. If Louisiana wants to collect damages on the timber, swamp, cutover and agricultural land along the Atchafalaya, in preference to speedy protection for Louisiana's greatest city, that is Louisiana's affair.

FASHION COMMUNIQUE.
Word comes from New York that an armistice has been concluded in the long skirt war on that major front. Our own war correspondent informs us that the conflict is about to end in a compromise. It was the older women who held out against the long skirt for street and office wear. The youngsters just coming of age who have never known the thrall of the long skirt and the petticoat welcomed the new style with naive eagerness. But their mothers and their grandmothers refused flatly to follow the Paris decree.

So, it seems, the long skirt is to be restricted to formal afternoon and evening wear. And Paris is retiring as gracefully as possible. Mr. Worth cables that the whole controversy was the fault of the copyists and that he and his fellow copyists never intended to jeopardize short-skirted womanhood. But the real nature of the victory cannot be disguised. It should take rank, we feel, with the winning of the vote.

The coast guard cutter Snodgrass and Balda were sent to the aid of a distressed ship off Cape Flattery. Now we know what the learned gentleman who named the Pullman cars does during the dull season.

HAPPY DAYS IN SOUTHERN MILLS.
A glowing picture of the good times enjoyed by the workers in Southern cotton mills is painted in a special 40-page section issued by the Charlotte (N. C.) News. Wages are fine, nearly everywhere, has an auto and a bank account, the workers live in comfortable roomy houses at amazingly low rents, with a constant round of picnics, barbecues and musical entertainments to drive away dull care.

For the women particularly mill towns seem to be an earthly paradise. The thrifty girls of Thrift, N. C., have taken up golf. At Landis, two young women who support their widowed mother have built a house for her. The girls at the Gray-Sperry mill, Gastonia, have a travel club, and take vacation trips to New York, Washington and other foreign parts. The women at Elizabethton, Tenn., gladden the eye and the ready-to-wear dealers with their care-free buying of new clothes.

With these happy conditions last announced to the world, the United States Department of Labor chooses a most inopportune time to issue its statistics on women's wages in the cotton mills. The merry mill women of North Carolina will be disappointed to learn that they are indulging in the gay which the Charlotte News depicts with an average of only $14.63 a week to spend. They may rejoice, however, in the fact that it might be worse, for their sisters in Alabama get only $11.55; in South Carolina $12.33 and in Georgia $12.77.

CONDEMNATION PROGRESS.
Exceptions to damages awarded by condemnation commissioners in the Gravois widening case have all been passed upon and, unless appeals are taken, the city is free to go ahead with the work. This is welcome news to Gravois avenue property owners who have been waiting since 1923, when Gravois widening was authorized, for cumbersome legal processes to be completed.

Of the seven major street widenings only Olive street has been completed. Judge Bader and Judge Hall are busy hearing exceptions in the Memorial Plaza and Market street widening cases and in a short time these projects should be out of the hands of the lawyers. Natural Bridge property owners have a right to be impatient. The widening of that street was authorized in 1930, and nine years elapsed before the condemnation commission issued its report. Exceptions are still to be heard.

Morgan street widening is an extreme example of slow motion. Initiated in 1923, the commission has not yet rendered a report, although up to June 12 last it had met 654 times. South Twelfth's widening is the oldest of the major projects. It was authorized by a 1919 ordinance and is still tied up in litigation. The South Twelfth street project should be finished before the new Federal building goes up at Twelfth and Market. A partial report has been made on the North Twelfth street widening, but the condemnation commission is still working on the remainder.

Condemnation commissions and Circuit Judges have a busy year before them. The public is tired of waiting for the realization of the 1923 bond issue. Besides, disgruntled property owners have been created by the interminable delay. With two new judges available for condemnation work, the Circuit Court should clean the slate in the coming months.

"QUIET, ORDERLY."
Official judgment on New Year's eve in St. Louis was pronounced in two words: "Quiet, orderly." There will be no appeal from that decision. The visitor from Mars would, perhaps, have observed no departmental difference on Tuesday night from that of similar occasions in the decade of legal growth. But the difference in official attitude may be noted. Administrator Dillon frankly faced realities. He did not undertake or pretend to enforce a law which he and everyone else knew would be disregarded. And instead of sending a flying squad of officers for a brief censorious visit to the various hotels and night clubs, as was the former practice, watchers were stationed for the evening, presumably instructed not to be objectionably officious, but to restrain exuberance that threatened to get out of hand.

Mr. Dillon exercised common sense, for which he is to be commended. A great quality, common sense. In its application lies the solution of our prohibition problem. Some time, we suppose, the Government at Washington will discover that truth. When it does we shall resume the "quiet, orderly" standard of national behavior which we were fast approaching when the zealous came along to substitute tyranny for temperance.

Scientists say man lived in Nebraska 5,000,000 years ago, or about the time Bryan ran for President the first time.

INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THE STATE.
Application for a 16.25 per cent rate increase by the stock fire and storm insurance companies which are retreating the 10 per cent cut in rates by the Missouri State Fire Insurance Department brings the issue of the State's authority to a crisis.

Mr. Thompson, the State Insurance Commissioner, says the companies will not get the increase without a fight; but the policy holders to whom these companies still owe upwards of $8,000,000 will wonder what has become of the fight to make them pay up. We ventured the opinion at the time the Governor refused to compromise these claims that the insurance companies should be given a choice between meeting their obligations or getting out of the State. They have never been able to convince any court that the 10 per cent reduction was either unfair or unreasonable, and are now on second appeal before the United States Supreme Court.

The application for a rate increase is equivalent to saying that the companies cannot profitably do business under the present rates. Before that question is passed upon the companies should be compelled to come into court with clean hands. They can do so only by paying their policy holders the excess premiums collected since the rate reduction was ordered in 1922.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS HAVE FOUND A BURIED CITY IN PALESTINE, WHICH THEY THINK WAS SODOM. For goodness sake why bring that up?

A LINDBERGH MEMORIAL.
Col. Lindbergh tells Mayor Miller he does not want a statue erected in his honor in St. Louis. He might have added there are other ways of memorializing the New York-to-Paris flight. The airport at Lambert Field, for which the city voted $2,000,000, is in its way a memorial to Lindbergh. Certainly the air-consciousness stimulated here by him paved the way for the success of the airport bond issue.

St. Louis has another opportunity to perpetuate Lindbergh's memory in the proposed airport on the northern river front. Lambert Field cannot hope to serve all the air needs of St. Louis in time to come. We need such a memorial as the one suggested by the City Plan Commission, to be formed by strengthening the Mississippi channel between Halls Point and Chain of Rocks, thus reclaiming a large area for port and airport purposes. This airport, available for both land and seaplanes, could be called Lindbergh Field. Lindbergh would no doubt consider that a more impressive tribute than a memorial in bronze or marble.

Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Gann chatted merrily at the White House New Year's reception. But the reporter failed to say whether they were talking about Mrs. Doran's cocktail, or the Nathaniel Lyon statue, or City Magistrate Vitale of New York.

Submarines at the Naval Conference

Purpose of London meeting is not disarmament but limitation, with stabilization of forces as great objective; French oppose limiting submarine; World War proved effectiveness in offense, leaving defense as minor weapon; chief use as commerce destroyer; if any restriction is to be agreed on, undersea craft must be included.

From the Manchester Guardian Weekly.

WHETHER it succeeds or fails, the coming naval conference is as important as any held since the conference at Versailles. If it fails, then world disarmament will have failed, certainly for years to come. If it is successful, then world disarmament will not be by any means have been achieved.

The conference will not be a disarmament conference; its purpose is limitation. It will perhaps not even reduce existing naval armaments. It may even increase them. But it will stabilize them at certain universal levels. And if all goes exceedingly well it will stabilize them at lower levels. Limitation, at whatever level, must now come first, then reduction, and then, perhaps, disarmament.

That is to say, a final reduction converting the world's navies into a maritime police force, acting as the executive of international authority and within the limitations of international law. We cannot, in the present precarious state of international affairs, tell whether this ideal will ever be achieved. But the attempt must be made, and the naval conference is the beginning of this attempt. Nothing should, therefore, be allowed to obscure or thwart this initial purpose.

We have been hearing a good deal of argument for and against the abolition of the submarine. The British and Americans were for it at Washington eight years ago, and are for it still. The French are dead against it. So are the Japanese. The Italians seem to remain open-minded. No fleet and no category of fighting ships has an absolute value in war. Naval strategy is dominated by distance, by the presence or absence of bases, by the configuration of coast and by the immunity or vulnerability of the communications by which the inhabitants of the warring Powers get their food and raw materials.

War always imposes certain conditions of its own, conditions in which attack may be the best defense or in which the enemy can be best defeated by avoiding instead of seeking battle. And just as the function of an entire fleet may vary, so the functions of its different component parts may vary. It is, therefore, difficult to generalize about any particular category of vessel.

The French argument is that the submarine is a purely defensive weapon, and one particularly essential to the weaker Powers who cannot afford to maintain big navies. This argument can be met without accepting the extreme British view that the submarine is a weapon of attack and of attack alone.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WHEN Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt stepped out of Government service she by no means forgot that little group of Government women lawyers with whom she had worked for so long. Among them was Miss Annabel Matthews of Gainesville, Ga., who was a member of the Board of Tax Appeals, a $10,000 job for at least a year. Miss Matthews was nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate with a rush. But next day, on demand of the Couzens of Michigan the nomination was back to committee for consideration.

Not that Congress had anything against Miss Matthews. She has been in the Internal Revenue Bureau since the first income tax measure passed 15 years ago. She even studied law of nights and is a member of the bar in Washington and Georgia. She is a recognized expert, perhaps the Government's leading expert, on the intricate questions with which the Tax Appeal Board deals.

BUT four years ago, about the time Couzens himself was going successful with the Treasury over his Ford stock matters, the Senate decreed against naming Revenue Bureau employees to the Appeal Board, as a matter of policy. The revenue said such employees ought to be at least two years out of the bureau before being eligible for appointment in the Appeal Board.

Otherwise, said Senator Glass of Virginia, the policy resolution, they would be passing on their own work in the case. Miss Matthews had not been out of the bureau at all. She's still there, one of the most important cogs of the machine. She was confirmed for promotion to her position with no word of this Senate policy resolution cropping up. Why?

Now one person was that danger to Matthews' hopes when the idea of appointing her to the board first popped up. The person was Mrs. Willebrandt. She was on the Committee, about it.

HE GOT in touch with Glass, as did the White House later. Possibly Mrs. Willebrandt also suggested that course. At any rate, it was established. In advance the both Glass and Norris were willing to waive the policy expression in Miss Matthews' favor because of her admitted special qualifications.

That was good political strategy, but it overlooked one vital matter. Senator Couzens keeps an eye on Revenue Bureau men all the time. He has been at it for years. And Jim Couzens is slow to change his mind. He has fixed ideas about the need for protecting taxpayers from damage of Government bureaucracy.

So Miss Matthews missed out on a very well deserved Christmas present. If it was said of her in the Senate to be a criterion, she'll get the job eventually.

ANYONE who appreciated "Sea and Jungle," which served to spread the name of H. M. Tomlinson across the world, or "Callings of the Sea," which received greater publicity than the earlier and perhaps, on the whole, superior book, may have felt that the rare quality of the man's writing must have been the outgrowth of a mind more than could be revealed directly through the subject matter chosen.

In "All Our Yesterdays" the scope and immediate human significance of the subject matter admits of a far larger revelation of the mind, with no loss of the distinctive Tomlinson quality which is not to be described intelligently to anyone who has not experienced it. However, the whimsicality of the name might deal with the reputation of Tomlinson, there is at least reasonable justification for regarding this as a great book—great in its vision for us.

The theme of the book, in which the story interest is incidental to the vision, concerns nothing more tangible than the brewing social weather of England, in particular, and the Western World, in general, during the period beginning with the Boer War and ending with the four-year hurricane in 1918. A casual reader, seeking only story interest and unconcerned with the drifts of the world, would be certain to miss the greatness of the book; for the narrative, save in the later portion that presents the World War with a quiet but terrific power, would seem to run along with no greater burden than the petty affairs of inconsequential people. Nevertheless, the tenseness of great drama is to be felt under the surface by those who can read deeply into a book.

The story might even seem to be organized in that it leaves from England to Novembra in Africa, and from the affairs of one apparently unimportant person to those of another with little plan. But the organic relations of the narrative are to be felt, not in personalities, but in the inevitable continuity of the process by which the social weather thickens toward the storm. There have been many excellent war books of various sorts; and we need not underrate any of them by saying that if "All Our Yesterdays" may be placed in that classification, it stands august and lonely there when judged by depth of penetration into the underlying meanings of the spectacle.

For those who seek it, the whole volume is packed with social criticism that at times broods forth from sentences or paragraphs like lightning upon the troubled muck of our human folly, and at times, for pages together, is like and as if it were a cry of protest, for the viewpoint, in the main, is surprisingly impersonal, which is to say, timeless.

ALL OUR YESTERDAYS. By H. M. Tomlinson. (Harpers.)

ANYONE who appreciated "Sea and Jungle," which served to spread the fame of H. M. Tomlinson across the world, or "Gallant's Reach," which received greater publicity than the earlier and perhaps, on the whole, superior book, may have felt that the rare quality of the man's writing must have been the outgrowth of a mind greater than could be revealed directly through the subject matter.

In "All Our Yesterdays" the scope and immediate human significance of the subject matter admits of a far larger revelation of that mind, with no loss of the distinctive Tomlinson quality which is not to be described intelligently to anyone who has not experienced it.

However the immensity of the theme of Tomlinson, there is at least reasonable justification for regarding this as a great book—great in its vision for us.

The theme of the book, in which the story interest is incidental to the vision, concerns nothing more tangible than the brewing social weather of England, in particular, and the Western World, in general, during the period beginning with the Boer War and ending with the year-end hurricane in 1918. A casual reader, seeking only story interest and unconcerned with the theme of the world, would be certain to miss the greatness of the book; for the narrative, save in the latter portion that presents the World War with a quiet but terrific power, would seem to run along with no greater burden than the petty affairs of inconsequential people. Nevertheless, the tenaciousness of great drama is to be felt under the surface by those who can read deeply into a book.

The story might even seem to be exaggerated, in that it leaps from England to Novembomb in Africa, and from there to the political and apparently unimportant person to that of another with little plan. But the organic relations of the narrative are to be felt, not in personages, but in the inevitable continuity of the process by which the social weather thickens toward the storm. There have been many excellent "war books" of various sorts; and it is not an optimistic book, but rather it is a cynical one; for the viewpoint, in the main, is surprisingly impersonal, which is to say realistic.

For those who seek it, the whole volume is packed with social criticism that at times breaks forth in sentences or paragraphs like lightning upon the troubled murk of our human folly, and at times, in pages together, it is like a moonlight brooding over an impassable terrain where human feet by millions still must go.

FOUR years ago, about the time Congress was going successful battle with the Treasury over his Ford stock matters, the Senate decreed against naming revenue Bureau employees to the Appellate as a matter of policy. The result was that such employees ought to be at least a year out of the bureau before being eligible for appointment to the Appellate.

SCANDINAVIAN LITERATURE. FROM BRANDES TO OUR DAY. By H. G. Topsoe-Jensen. (Norton.)

From Georg Brandes, who in 1871, with his epoch-making lectures, inaugurated modern literature in Scandinavia, to Sigrid Undset, this volume surveys the most active literary years of Norway, Sweden and Denmark. It is said to be the only general survey of modern Scandinavian literature available in English. Considering the fact that so much of the most powerful literature of our day is coming from the Scandinavian countries, this study is of great importance to students of contemporary world literature. The author is a famous Danish critic. The translation is by Isaac Anderson. Incidentally, attention should be drawn to the Scandinavian Classics series to which this volume is the most recent addition. Formerly issued by The American Scandinavian Foundation, the series is now published by W. W. Norton & Co.

Brown U. Trustee Dies. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 3.—John Carter Brown Loda, trustee of Brown University since 1884, and long prominent in Rhode Island politics, died at his home here Wednesday night of pneumonia. He was a direct descendant of the founders of the Brown University.

DAUGHTER OF TITLED EX-ST. LOUISAN DIES

Lady Ethel Louise Forbes-Leith Child of Former Mary Louise January.

Word has been received here of the death of Lady Ethel Louise Forbes-Leith, daughter of Baroness Leith of Fyvie. The Baroness was formerly Miss Mary Louise January of St. Louis.

Lady Ethel was the niece of Harry C. January, St. Louis broker, and of Mrs. John T. Davis Jr. of 47 Portland place. She inherited the $3,500,000 estate of her father, Lord Leith of Fyvie, who died in 1925.

The marriage of Alexander John Forbes-Leith to Miss January took place in Paris in 1870. Formerly a lieutenant in the British Navy, he went into the steel business in St. Louis and Chicago after his marriage, and made a fortune in that business, as his father-in-law, Derick A. January of St. Louis, had done.

Returning to his native Scotland, Forbes-Leith bought for $375,000 the ancient Fyvie Castle in Aberdeenshire, which had formerly been held by his ancestors. King Edward VII created him Baron Leith of Fyvie. The only son of Lord and Lady Leith was killed in the Boer War, hence he was without an heir to his title.

He therefore provided in his will that his son-in-law, Col. Sir Charles Rowden Burn, should take the name of Forbes-Leith, and declared his wish that Fyvie Castle be kept in the possession of an heir to that name. Sir Charles and his wife, Lady Ethel, accepted this condition.

One heir to the title survived Lady Ethel. He is her son, Ian Forbes-Leith. His older brother, Lieut. A. H. R. Burn, was killed in France in the early months of the World War.

FUNERAL OF POPE'S BROTHER

Pontiff Does Not Attend Services for Count Ratti.

ROME, Jan. 3.—Funeral services for Count Fermo Ratti, brother of Pope Pius XI, were held today at St. Mary's without the Pontiff himself being present. Count Ratti died Tuesday. Monsignor Zampini, the Pope's secretary, said mass, and Cardinal Locatelli, the first prince of the church to be created by Pius XI, imparted absolution. Most of the Cardinals at Vatican City, members of the Papal Court, and the diplomatic corps accredited at the Vatican, attended. The Sistine Choir sang. The body later was taken to the railway station, where it was shipped to Milan. Members of the family and a number of papal dignitaries accompanied it.

The Pope's absence was understood to be due to his disinclination to put the Italian authorities to the trouble of policing streets to the extent necessary if he should leave the Vatican.

Dr. Stewart, a native of Scotland, was a graduate of the old Barnes Medical College. He was appointed by Gov. Hadley as superintendent of the Missouri State Sanatorium for tuberculosis patients at Booneville, Ark., died in Barnes Hospital today from injuries suffered when a saddle horse fell with him Oct. 24, last. He was 60 years old and a brother of Dr. James Stewart, State Health Commissioner of Missouri.

He was riding about the sanatorium grounds when his horse fell, causing a fracture of one leg and concussion of the brain. He is survived by Mrs. Stewart, formerly Miss Anna Hausmann of St. Louis; a son, George H. Stewart, 22 years old, and a daughter, Margaret, 16. Besides Dr. Stewart, he had one brother, Charles Stewart of Maplewood, and six sisters, living in or near St. Louis. Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. David Hoy, Mrs. John W. Milbey, Mrs. Charles Hewitt, Mrs. Joseph Martin and Mrs. Albert Wiedmer.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Wiedmer, 6139 Kingsbury avenue.

BISHOP JOHNSON WILL ASK DIOCESE FOR COADJUTOR

Convention of Eastern Missouri District to Be Held in St. Louis Jan. 22.

The diocesan convention of the Episcopal Diocese of (Eastern) Missouri, to be held in Christ Church Cathedral Jan. 22, will be asked to elect a Bishop coadjutor, to assist Bishop Frederick Foote Johnson. Bishop Johnson, who is 62 years old, underwent a surgical operation last June, and has not fully recovered his strength. He and Mrs. Johnson spent the summer in Switzerland.

Bishop Johnson, in a letter to the clergy of the diocese, has announced that he will ask for the naming of a coadjutor. Under church usage, it is possible for the convention either to elect a clergyman of this or another diocese to the position, or to invite the Bishop of another diocese, leaving a vacancy to be filled by election in that diocese. The latter policy was followed when Bishop Johnson, then Bishop of South Dakota, was chosen in 1911 as coadjutor to Bishop Tuttle. A Bishop coadjutor has the right of succession, and Bishop Johnson succeeded Bishop Tuttle upon the latter's death in 1923.

In his letter to the clergy, Bishop Johnson says that he may not be able to resume full performance of his duties for a considerable time, and that he does not wish the affairs of the diocese to suffer because of his disability.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. THOUGHTS while strolling: Something cheerful about red-checked tablecloths. They suggest cream gravy and hot biscuits. Frieda Henzels beauty parlor, a department store features a reducing parlor. Adele Rogers St. John, who has deserted Hollywood for New York.

Those striking brunettes with a plume of white hair. Rose O'Neill, creator of Keweenaw. Cabmen with emurped faces who rise to clap heavily gloved hands—like so many flapping crows. The dreamy reverie of book store clerks. Ben Ames Williams, a Jackson (O.) boy, who made good in the city.

Janitors who drop all day in basement doorways. What is so cheery as a crackling fire on an open fireplace? Earl Carroll's chauffeur is a former actor. The man who owns the Ritz barber shop is named Rita. No relation. Just coincidence. Clair Maxwell of Life.

What became of the peacock? Tall table fan for shoeing flies? Hungry looking children who stand at rotisserie windows—like a circle of cats around a rat hole. Those romantic Italian waiters. Who work all winter in stuffy table d'hotes. And set off in the spring to roam the hills of Annapoli.

The former comedienne—Edna Leedon. Now the wife of a millionaire. The waiting line at the news reel theater. Beauty parlor sign: "Nicotine stains removed in five minutes." At last—a spat shop. Keats Speed of the Sun. Smart-looking ladies in green. Young men in revolt—and wearing Latin Quarter hats.

Chubby apple-pie young men who sport tightly pinned coats. And dinky mustaches. Those bloods with a gift of wearing mufflers with a dash. Mine always resembles a discarded sock. Leslie Howard, the English actor, hiding in front of the Lamb. George Arliss and Booth Tarkington bear a resemblance somehow. Those cobwebby theatrical studios that lodge in the attic of old Broadway buildings. James R. Quirk and Mae Allisen. A man walks across Seventh avenue at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in a dressing gown.

WESTERNER in New York. A may become totally absorbed by the metropolis, but I have never known one who did not, no matter how long he lived here, call a station a depot.

PEOPLE grow old gracefully in New York. They are rarely shunted to the proverbial chimney corner. Withered ladies with faces and hands like old ivory, as well as gentlemen with a dodder are seen at theaters, in cafes and now and then at night clubs. It does not seem to me any other city shows them such respectful deference. They are not coddled, but made to feel they are actually welcome. And I believe they are.

NOTHING make people feel the sting of age and its cold isolation like soliloquous attention. They nurse the same rebellion as cripples who are helped about. I know a granddaddykins of 82 who puts on a dinner coat and squires his 22-year-old niece to dinner once a week. And, bless his heart, he always wears a white carnation in his coat lapel.

ONE of life's little illusions: Many of the Bond street looking spats worn by the drawing room lions are manufactured in Portsmouth, O.

A FIFTH AVENUE dressmaking establishment announces: "Perfume consultations by Prince Matchabelli." It is his contention one skin may kill a valuable perfume and another bring out its utmost allure.

IT has been one of my day dreams to buy a fine old house in my home town, let it reach the stage of decay where it will be known as the McIntyre mansion, and perhaps be spoken of in whispers as haunted. (Copyright, 1930.)

The guests included the Princess Marie-Louise, who headed the list of patronesses, the Viscountess Harcourt, Elizabeth, Lady Chesham and others of the nobility.

Mrs. French-Brewster has made her home in London since the death of Capt. French-Brewster in Switzerland a year ago. She was presented at court in the spring.

SANITY SUIT AGAINST WAR VETERAN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Wife Says H. L. Lewis Remained Under Another Name Without Divorcing Her.

A suit to establish the sanity of Homer L. Lewis, 34-year-old St. Louis County World War veteran who recently married in Waterloo, Ill., without divorcing his first wife, was taken under advisement today by Probate Judge Hodgdon in Clayton. Mrs. Maud L. Lewis, the veteran's wife, was appointed his guardian in 1925, four years after he had returned from France where he was wounded, gassed and shell-shocked. He was decorated for gallantry by both the United States and Great Britain. Mrs. Lewis lives at 7409 Wine avenue, Richmond Heights, with their two children, aged 6 and 7. She said Lewis disappeared in October, 1928, and Jan. 19, 1929, under the name of Mike Murell, married Mrs. Bernice Gleason of East

St. Louis, in Waterloo, Ill. Lewis testified today that he was now living at 802 Exchange avenue, East St. Louis, where Mrs. Gleason also lives. As guardian for Lewis, Mrs. Lewis received about $15 a month from the Government. Counsel for Lewis also seeks to have the guardianship of Mrs. Lewis set aside. Mrs. Lewis said that she believed her husband was not responsible and would seek to have him committed to a Government hospital, if her guardianship were upheld. She will contest the suit.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad was required today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish a freight car interchange track between its rails and the St. Paul Municipal Barge Terminal on the east bank of the Mississippi River. The City of St. Paul will be expected to pay the cost on the connection.

9 HURT IN RUNAWAY TROLLEY

Trucks Brakes Fail to Hold on Hill in Peoria, Ill.

By the Associated Press. PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 3.—Running out of control down Knoxville avenue hill today, a one-man street car crashed head-on into the rear of another street-car, injuring nine persons. Frank Burkett, motor-man, whose car ran wild, was gravely injured. All the passengers on Burkett's car ran to the rear when they saw the crash coming and saved themselves from worse injuries.

Officers of the street car company said the brakes on Burkett's car were frozen and failed to hold on the hill, one of the steepest in town. Among the injured are Richard Lawless, a policeman; Mrs. Don Zarley, Hazel Smith, Mrs. K. L. Linquist, Hazel Stitting and Pauline Jackson.

NAVY WANTS 'REAL PARITY,' SAYS ADAMS

Secretary, in Boston Address, Declares Battleship Is Still "Probably Leading Weapon."

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Jan. 3.—The Navy is desirous of peace and would welcome any arrangement whereby competitive building of ships by nations could be eliminated, Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, said in an address before the Boston Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He will be one of the United States representatives at the London naval conference.

The Secretary was brief in his remarks on naval parity. The United States navy, he said, "would be glad to have that parity a real, just parity."

He explained as a necessity for maintaining the navy that it was "but reasonable insurance" for overseas commerce.

The navy's personnel was praised by Secretary Adams. He said the men in that branch of the Government's service were "not pugilistic washbucklers looking for war," but were "patriotic, high-minded citizens devoting themselves to their country."

The battleship, he described as a very important and probably leading weapon of the modern navy. "It is fair to say," he said, "that the battleship is the far more economical way of throwing about high explosives."

He said that in one minute the guns of a fleet could inflict as much damage to an opposing fleet as a large fleet of aircraft.

Secretary Adams said every navy believed the battleship would continue to be an important part of national defense, despite the rapid development of aircraft. He pointed out that a ship could continue to remain at the scene of battle, whereas it would be necessary for aircraft to return to its carrier or base for fuel or ammunition.

After praising the men under him, Adams said, "I want you to see the men as I see them and not as you see them on Boston Common. And perhaps all of those men are not navy men. Perhaps they are Coast Guards."

His reference to the Coast Guard produced an atmosphere of humor among his listeners.

Francis Hoover for Leaving Naval Officers Off Delegation. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A defense of President Hoover for refraining from placing naval officers on the United States delegation to the London Arms Conference was voiced today by Representative McClintic, Oklahoma, a Democrat on the House Naval Committee.

"President Hoover is to be warmly congratulated for appointing members of the commission that represent the American people," McClintic said in a statement, "rather than the officers of the United States Navy."

He took exception to the stand taken in New York by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, that a mistake had been made because no naval officers were appointed to the London conference.

"When it is taken into consideration that the sorriest men ever exposed to the American public," McClintic said, "was the proceedings at Geneva at the last armament conference which, were conducted by a commission, the majority of whom were naval officers ably assisted by a representative of certain shipbuilders, it can be easily understood why President Hoover has used such good judgment in appointing the kind of a commission that will not be dominated by those who have a selfish interest to serve."

McClintic referred to the activities of William B. Shearer, naval lobbyist, which recently were investigated by a Senate Committee.

"As Shearer's effect on the Geneva conference," McClintic continued, "it is now known that he had the co-operation of Admirals Charles F. Plunkett, H. A. Wiley, W. V. Pratt, J. M. Reeves, F. H. Scott, and Commanders H. C. Train and H. A. Frost."

"In addition, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and many other officers of the Navy knew of this unholy combination, yet not a word was ever given to the public until Shearer squealed."

McClintic said in explaining his statement that the Assistant Secretary of the Navy to whom he referred was "Theodore Douglas Robinson, under Secretary Wilbur."

HELD ON MANN ACT CHARGE

Man and Woman From St. Louis Arrested in Little Rock, Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 3.—Samuel Bearden, 29 years old, and Pearl Coy, 25, both of St. Louis, were arrested here yesterday on charges of violating the Mann act, following receipt of a telegram said to have been from Bearden's wife in St. Louis. They were placed in the county jail to await arraignment before a Federal Commissioner today.

Bearden, a shoe-maker, resides at 2126 Delmar street. He is said to have three children.

HEBER NATIONS SEEKS TRANSFER OF TRIAL

Wants Dry Law Case Sent to Hannibal — Alleges Prejudice in St. Louis.

Heber Nations' petition for transfer of his trial on a Volstead act conspiracy charge, from St. Louis to Hannibal, will be passed on by Federal Judge Davis after consideration of affidavits for and against such a transfer. After hearing an argument on Nations' behalf, the court today gave the government until noon tomorrow to file counter-affidavits and briefs.

The case will go to trial either here or at Hannibal next Tuesday, Judge Davis said.

In case of the transfer to Hannibal, which is the seat of the northern division of the St. Louis Federal Court District, Judge Davis would probably try the case, as he would here. The difference would be that the jury would be selected from Hannibal and adjoining counties, instead of St. Louis and vicinity.

In 50 affidavits filed with the court, Nations sets forth the prejudice against him and his brother, Gus O. Nations, former Federal prohibition administrator, exists in and around St. Louis to such an extent that he cannot obtain a fair trial. He has been twice convicted of the charge, and each conviction has been reversed by the Circuit Court of Appeals because of errors.

Each person making the affidavits was asked whether, from discussions and conversations heard, he believed that a prejudice existed in St. Louis against Heber and Gus Nations. Each replied in the affirmative.

Among those making these affidavits were three druggists who have been convicted of violations of the Volstead act. They are Otto Schimmel, 4977 Shaw boulevard; Sam Levitch of the Forest Park Hotel drug store; and Fred A. Ahrens Jr., 5017 Delmar boulevard. Two other druggists made affidavits.

Two more of the signers are J. B. Ayers, president, and F. R. Patterson, sales manager, of the Puritan Pharmaceutical Co. This company was represented by Gus Nations in a hearing before the local prohibition administrator, on a charge that alcohol had been diverted from the company's stock. The charge was not sustained, and the company retained its permit to use alcohol.

Three attorneys signed. G. H. Fones of Wellston, at one time a prohibition agent and later an active promoter of unofficial raids in Southeast Missouri, is another signer. Three lawyers signing affidavits are Jones H. Parker, speaker of the State House of Representatives, John A. Hope and Joseph Pelgenbaum.

In the petition for a transfer it is stated that St. Louis is a "wet center," and that the prejudice against Heber and Gus Nations has resulted from their persistent activity on behalf of enforcement of the liquor laws.

Charles M. Hay, Missouri dry leader and Democratic nominee for United States Senator in 1928, appeared for the first time as an active figure in Heber Nations' defense. He argued, in support of the transfer motion, that the pending case was generally viewed as a prosecution of the Nations brothers by the Griseledick brewing family. He cited the votes cast in St. Louis in two elections, for repeal of the state prohibition law, as evidence that a large majority here desired a "wet city." Under these circumstances, he said, prejudice was strong against Gus Nations, who in two and one-half years brought to prosecution 2000 bootleggers and moonshiners, and against his brother.

John C. Dyott, special assistant attorney-general prosecuting the case, argued against the transfer. He said the St. Louis newspapers circulated extensively in the northern part of the court district. He pointed out that several counties outside St. Louis City and County were included in the St. Louis Federal Court jury panels.

REPORTS ON POT. DECREASE IN LYNCHINGS IN 10 YEARS

Board Also Cites Educational Facilities for Negroes in the South.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 3.—The Commission of Interracial Cooperation, in a statement, cites a decrease during the past 10 years of 58 per cent in the annual lynching record, as "notable evidence of improving interracial conditions in the South."

The steady decline in the number of lynchings from 18 in 1919 to 11 in 1929 and 10 in the year just ended is undoubtedly due, the statement says, "to a rapid growth of public sentiment in behalf of justice and law."

Another evidence of progress which the commission considers equally important though less spectacular, has been the rapid increase of educational facilities for Negroes during the last decade. This has come about, the commission thinks, not only as a result of the South's increasing prosperity, but even more because of a growing public confidence that education for Negroes makes for efficiency and good citizenship.

 Total of $10,692,554 Paid in Last Day of 1929; Penalty Now in Effect.
 Payments of taxes for 1928 totaled $28,351,538 on Jan. 1 out of a levy of $34,616,930. The collection for Dec. 31, including letters postmarked on that date and delivered later to the collector's office, totaled $10,692,554, due largely to the fact that banks and large industries do not pay their taxes until the last day.
 Unpaid taxes for 1928 became delinquent Jan. 1 and a penalty of 1 per cent a month is added, with an additional 2 per cent penalty on March 1.

GIRLS TO BE TAUGHT 'CHARM'
 CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—A "charm school" for college and high school girls will be conducted in Evanston by Miss Muriel Stolt. Married women and divorcees are barred.
 Two hundred girls, mostly from Northwestern University, have joined. Florence S. Robnett, Northwestern dean of women, will start the school off by a talk defining charm. Francis Bacon, principal of the Evanston Township High School, will tell the girls about the art of charming men and describe the charming girls from a man's viewpoint. The course will last six weeks. Later there will be a charm school for men.

NAVAL MEETING TO BE IN HISTORIC ST. JAMES'

Building Was Formerly Residence of Royalties—Vacated After William IV.

By the Associated Press.
 LONDON, Jan. 2.—Quiet old St. James' Palace, which will be the meeting place for the coming naval disarmament conference, is one of the most popular buildings in London.

The history of St. James' palace is one of peace. For all its ornate decorations and the red-coated guards that all day long pace up and down before it, it has never known shot and shell.

It first became the official royal residence in 1698, after the burning down of the Palace of Whitehall. Queen Anne and all the Georges lived in it, and it was the principal home of William IV. Since then the official residence of the royal family has been Buckingham Palace, but the British Court is still officially "The Court of St. James," and the royal levees are still held in the palace building.
 The sixteenth century gatehouse (the portion of the palace which is seen looking down St. James street) is its finest architectural feature. And the range of rooms to the west of it form York House, the London home of the Prince of Wales, which is now considered a separate building. Inside the palace is a fine range of state apartments.

The banquet room or state room in which the plenary sessions of the conference will be held is a long, low chamber of dignified appearance, the walls of which are lined with royal portraits. It is none too large for its intended purpose, and the sessions of the conference will certainly overflow into the drawing room, Queen Anne's drawing room and the throne room—the last of which is a particularly sumptuous apartment, with a great white marble chimney piece and carvings by England's greatest wood carver, Grinling Gibbons.

At least three big international conferences, including the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations in 1920, have been held at the palace and many gatherings of less importance have met inside its walls.

Another Pretty Home On the Market

Among the properties newly listed with St. Louis Real Estate dealers, here and there, is "another pretty home for sale," another "very profitable business corner," a flat offered at "a price which will make a most attractive investment," and other desirable properties.

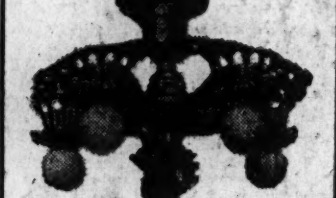

These are advertised in the Post-Dispatch Real Estate pages, often exclusively, as the Post-Dispatch regularly carries far more real estate advertisements than all the other St. Louis newspapers COMBINED!

HERRIN MINERS END STRIKE

HARRIS, Ill., Jan. 2.—Taylor No. 9 mine of the Franklin County Coal Co. near here was at work yesterday under an agreement reached Wednesday between company and miner representatives. The miners walked out Tuesday when the company summarily discharged 18 members of the union for not appearing for work. The strike mine near Johnston City is still idle as a result of a wild-cat strike there, but efforts are being made to settle, subdistrict officials stated today.

HOG FUTURES TRADING ON CHICAGO MARKET

Livestock Exchange to Handle No Deals—Merely Provide Space and Personnel.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Within a few weeks, the Chicago Livestock Exchange will begin trading in future delivery of hogs.

In announcing this innovation in livestock marketing, Everett C. Brown, president of the exchange, said the plan was effected to satisfy the demands of producers and processors of hogs who wanted some system which would afford them the opportunity to hedge operations and thus reduce risks incidental to price fluctuation and eliminate risks incidental to hog ownership.

The Chicago Livestock Exchange, however, will do no trading, merely providing the necessary space and personnel. Brown said. It was also pointed out that the future market will in no way interfere with the present cash market on hogs.

Brown said future trading in hogs "will mark a stride toward the goal of orderly marketing. It will furnish swine raisers the same outlet through future delivery channels, that heretofore has been enjoyed by handlers of other commodities, such as grain, provisions, sugar, butter, eggs, cotton and many products."

MRS. GANN TO BE HOSTESS TO BRITISH ENVOY AND WIFE

Occasion Will Be Dinner Given by Vice President Next Saturday Night.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—For the first time since she became official hostess to her brother, Vice President Curtis, Mrs. Dolly Gann will, on Saturday evening, preside at an official vice presidential dinner party.

Sir Esme Howard, the retiring British Ambassador, who befriended her when the controversy over her social rank was at its height, will be the guest of honor.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the wife of the Speaker of the House, who has been at odds with Mrs. Gann on the question of social precedence, will not be among those present, since custom forbids invitations to those outranking the guest of honor.

The function will be in the nature of a farewell to the British Envoy and his wife. Several members of the Cabinet, Diplomatic Corps, the House and the Senate are to attend.

Heretofore, Mrs. Gann's social activities have been confined to a series of "at homes," which were largely attended, and a reception last fall to members of the Diplomatic Corps. Later in the season, President and Mrs. Hoover will be guests of Mr. Curtis and his sister.

At the height of the discussion on what measure of precedence was to be accorded Mrs. Gann, Howard wrote a letter to other members of the Diplomatic Corps, of which he is the dean, which said that the sister of the Vice President should have the same social rank as is customarily conferred upon the Vice President's wife.

EVIDENCE OF DRUG KING FOUND IN ROTHSCHILD FILES

Many Influential Persons Involved, Says U. S. Attorney's Aid; Woman Is Sought.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Startling evidence found in the files of Arnold Rothstein, murdered gambler, and involving important persons of New York, will be presented to the Federal grand jury in its investigation of alleged narcotic rings, it was announced yesterday by Assistant United States District Attorney John M. Blake.

Information leaked out that Federal authorities were searching for Miss Audrey Du Brea, a night club hostess who was arrested two years ago in Washington with a man named Solomon. The latter received 14 years for violation of the narcotic laws, while Miss Du Brea received a suspended sentence. Investigating officers want to see Miss Du Brea, according to reliable information, because they found her name in the effects of Louis Sacarama, who is now under $10,000 bond on a narcotic charge, his late in Harlem having been said to be last Saturday night.

It was disclosed by Blake that both her ball and that of Solomon was signed by Rothstein.

"We expect to show how sinister was the influence of Rothstein in this illicit drug market," Blake said. "The facts will surprise and shock the public when it learns of them. Some of those persons involved are very influential citizens."

A. ERSKINE SMITH, MINING PROSPECTOR OF WEST, DIES

Brother, Soldier of Fortune and Adventurer Succumbs at Vancouver, B. C.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 2.—A. Erskine Smith, 52 years old, mining broker, soldier of fortune and adventurer on three continents, died here New Year's day.

In Vancouver he was better known as "Coolidge" Smith, a sobriquet gained in the gold diggings of Australia. In his lifetime he won and lost a half dozen fortunes. He was worth $250,000 at the age of 22 years.

In the early 80's, in South Africa, he won the amateur light heavyweight boxing championship in Johannesburg.

In 1897 he migrated to Western Canada and answered the lure of gold in the Yukon. He was the first man to shoot the dreaded White Horse rapids in 1898 in a home-made scow.

In later years he engaged in development of mining properties in British Columbia. He was born in Australia.

Gasoline on Water Surrounding Naval Aircraft Carrier Set Ablaze by Turpentine Pot in Boat.

By the Associated Press.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 3.—A court of inquiry today will convene aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, naval aircraft carrier, to fix responsibility for a gasoline fire which yesterday caused the death of two men, burned four others, three of them seriously, destroyed a rig valued at $25,000 and caused damage as yet unestimated to the starboard side of the carrier.

Commander A. C. Reid, senior officer of the Saratoga, said the fire originated in a turpentine pot that it set fire to the surface of the water, which was covered with residue from a gasoline compressor pump being cleaned aboard the carrier. The cause of the turpentine pot fire had not been determined.

Bodies Not Recovered.

The sailors who lost their lives were Matthew La Vieille, 23 years old, seaman, second class, Schenectady, N. Y., and Vincent Valentine, sailor, 23, engineer, second class, Brooklyn, N. Y. Their bodies were not recovered.

The injured: George William Feby, 19, Annapolis, Md., seaman, second class, burned on face; Henry Kenfield, 24, R. F. D. No. 2, Hampton, Conn., seaman, first class, seriously burned; Albert Lee Houston, 20, R. F. D. No. 1, Centralia, Wash., seaman, second class, seriously burned; B. J. Morton, seaman, second class, slightly burned.

The captain's gig, moored alongside the Saratoga, was burned. The flames leaped 20 feet above the carrier's stacks and blackened about two-thirds of the starboard side, but failed to penetrate the interior of the ship.

The 1500 crew members aboard were mustered to fight the fire, and succeeded in keeping the flames from a large quantity of combustible material carried on the ship. Commander Reid said a preliminary examination indicated that repairs can be made to the carrier without difficulty while the

TWO U. S. SAILORS KILLED WHEN FIRE DAMAGES VESSEL

Gasoline on Water Surrounding Naval Aircraft Carrier Set Ablaze by Turpentine Pot in Boat.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Jan. 3.—A court of inquiry today will convene aboard the U. S. S. Saratoga, naval aircraft carrier, to fix responsibility for a gasoline fire which yesterday caused the death of two men, burned four others, three of them seriously, destroyed a gig valued at $25,000 and caused damage as yet undetermined to the carrier.

Commander A. C. Reid, senior officer of the Saratoga, said the fire originated in a turpentine pot in a punt alongside the carrier and that it set fire to the surface of the water, which was covered with residue from a gasoline compressor pump being cleaned aboard the Saratoga. The cause of the turpentine pot fire had not been determined.

Bodies Not Recovered.
The sailors who lost their lives were Matthew La Vieille, 22 years old, seaman, second class, Schenectady, N. Y., and Vincent Valentine Lator, 29, engineer, second class, Brooklyn, N. Y. Their bodies were not recovered.

The injured: George William Febrey, 19, Annapolis, Md., seaman, second class, burned on face; Henry Kentfield, 24, R. F. D. No. 4, Hampton, Conn., seaman, first class, seriously burned; Albert Lee Houston, 20, R. F. D. No. 1, Centerville, Wash., seaman, second class, seriously burned; B. J. Morton, seaman, second class, slightly burned.

The captain's gig, moored alongside the Saratoga, was burned. The flames leaped 20 feet above the carrier's stacks and blackened about two-thirds of the starboard side, but failed to penetrate the interior of the ship.

The 1500 crew members aboard were mustered to fight the fire, and succeeded in keeping the flames from a large quantity of combustible material carried on the ship. Commander Reid said a preliminary examination indicated that repairs can be made to the carrier without difficulty while the ship remains at its anchorage.

TURPENTINE THROWN IN WATER.
La Vieille, who was painting the hull of the punt, called to Febrey when the turpentine blazed up, and together they threw it overboard into the gasoline-covered water. The flames immediately spread, and all aboard the punt and the gig nearby jumped into the water. Lator was one of three men aboard the gig.

Authorities think that La Vieille and Lator, coming to the surface, inhaled flames and sank. Morton was burned when he leaped from the Saratoga to save Febrey. He grasped him and, with Kentfield and Houston, was picked up by Matthew Babrick, a water taxi operator, who took them to the port side of the Saratoga.

Imminent danger of the combustible materials within the Saratoga lasted only three minutes, during which time the flames rushed up its sides and licked in its portholes.

MORNING'S SNOOZE BETTER THAN ANY SETTING-UP DRILLS

Doctors Vindicate Natural Inclination—Calisthenics, 29th
Among Beneficial Sports.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—It is not only all right to sleep in bed, when the sun shines overhead, or however Harry Lauder's song phrases it, but it is a lot wiser than getting up and going through those setting-up exercises the radio boys reel off for the hopeful.

This is the opinion of the 124 members of the Society of Directors of Physical Education in Colleges, as expressed in a report read at their thirty-third annual meeting at the Hotel Astor.

Such exercises contribute little of social, psychological, safety or recreational value and add very little to the physical development of their adherents, the report states.

This report was the result of two years of investigation conducted by the Committee on Curriculum Research, and is based on the answers from these 124 members of the association. Of the 30 sports listed, calisthenics rates a poor twenty-ninth. Swimming and diving rate first.

Miss Hazel Luckett, 18 years old, State witness in a robbery case, last night caused the arrest of a man who, she said, after threatening to kill her if she testified for the State, had abducted her, driven her to a county roadhouse and attacked her.

The man arrested admitted her charges, according to police, saying, "I guess I just wanted to be tough."

Leo Carensa, Miss Luckett and another man and woman were arrested last September for alleged participation in a poolroom hold-up. Miss Luckett is to testify before the grand jury against Carensa Tuesday.

Ship remains at its anchorage. The death of La Vieille and Lator was not discovered until some time after the flames had been extinguished.

FIVE-DAY WEEK ON MO. PAC. Plan Put Into Force at Sedalia, Mo. Shops.

By the Associated Press.
SEDIALLIA, Mo., Jan. 3.—A five-day week schedule has been adopted by the Missouri Pacific Railroad shops here effective this week, according to J. W. Lemon, superintendent. The new plan will curtail running expenses and will be in force in all departments, except the supply department.

Lemon was unable to say whether any of the other shops along the Missouri Pacific system would be affected by the new plan. The usual force of 1100 men will be retained, he added.

BOTTLED SUNSHINE —to build her up in weight and vitality

YOUR child's weight and height are, of course, an index to his health. Usually underweight means a lack of vitality and endurance.

For under par children physicians are advising a health-builder long known for its power to renew vitality and to increase general resistance to certain infections.

Authorities find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—helps to bring the underweight child up to normal weight. It gives him new vitality; puts the ruddy color of health into his cheeks.

Bottled Sunshine does this because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children get so little in these modern days of indoor living, and Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and nutrition and increases resistance to many infections.

When they prescribe cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify "Squibb's," because it is vitamin-tested and guaranteed as to its content of the health-protecting Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to help your child grow and gain weight as he should. Squibb has a new Mint-flavored Cod-liver Oil which will appeal to the older children especially. You can get it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil, at all good drug stores.

"GREAT" SHIRES SUSPENDED ON CHARGE OF TRYING TO "FIX" MATCH

MICHIGAN BODY TAKES ACTION AFTER HEARING CRISS' MANAGER

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 3.—Arthur (The Great) Shires, White Sox socker and a mid who might be heavyweight champion if he were half as good as he is reported to have said he is, is under suspension by the Michigan Boxing Commission. The charge, which Shires denies indignantly, is that his representatives sought to have Shires' opponent in a scheduled fight here take a "diver."

The commission acted yesterday after receiving a statement from Vance Gildersleeve, manager of Battling Criss (who was to have been Shires' opponent), in which Gildersleeve said Shires' representatives told him Criss would have to "take a diver" or Shires would not go through with the fight.

The bout, which was to have taken place last night, was called off when physicians for the commission found Shires was suffering from a severe cold.

Shires pooh-poohed the idea that anyone representing him would suggest that Battling Criss "dive."

Shires' manager, Criss, he did so without my knowledge," said Shires. "I can flatten Criss on the level and I wasn't worrying about him. I've got a stiff neck and a heavy cold and the commission's physician, Dr. Keane, told me I was in no condition to fight at this time."

Shires will not be permitted to go through with scheduled fights at Flint, Jackson and Grand Rapids, James M. Brown, chairman of the Boxing Commission, said. The suspension also will be reported to the National Boxing Association, which will be asked to suspend him in the thirty-one states it governs.

"We are satisfied," Commissioner Brown said, "that Shires does not belong in the boxing game." In Chicago, Newsie Blumhardt, Shires' manager, denied any attempt had been made to fix the fight with Criss. If any attempt at fixing was made, he said, it must have been made by gamblers. He said he would return to Detroit and demand a hearing before the commission. When the fight was called off, he explained, it was with the understanding that Shires would meet the same opponent at a later date.

To Be Made Permanent. The Boxing Commission did not make known the names of the persons Gildersleeve said approached him with the "diver" offer. The commission also declined to state how much Battling Criss was supposed to have been offered for being the "fall guy."

The Shires suspension was indefinite, but Commissioner Brown said it would probably be made permanent when the commission meets at Lansing, Jan. 9. Brown said the commission had possession of data which would support its action and that more details probably would be revealed at the meeting next week.

Trafton Defends Shires. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—George Trafton, conqueror of Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires in their recent five-round boxing engagement, leaped today to the defense of the great one, who has been suspended by the Michigan Boxing Commission.

Shires was suspended on charges that a representative of his had asked Battling Criss, whom C. Arthur was to have met in Detroit New Year's night, "to go into the tank" or lay down, for Shires. The fight was postponed when Shires became ill.

"I don't believe Art asked anyone to take a dive," Trafton said. "He didn't ask me to dive, and stood up like a man with a job to do. If this Criss really thinks Art ran out on him, he need not to wait until Art gets well for a fight. I'll fight him myself."

SKATING CARIVAL IS POSTPONED TO JAN. 12

Officers of the Missouri Skating Association today announced that the annual skating carnival at Forest Park Lake had been postponed one week, until Jan. 12. Weather conditions have not been favorable in the Middle West, the Dearborn Carnival and the Pontiac skating event at Chicago and Detroit respectively, both having been postponed for want of ice.

The leaders will meet the tail-enders in the fifth round of the Granite City Y. M. C. A. Basketball League tomorrow night, in the "Y" gym.

The Odd Fellows, possessors of second place, will meet the Frigidaires in the initial struggle of the evening.

The Commonwealth Steel five will face the Dewey Avenue Comets in the next game.

The lowly American Steel players, who occupy the cellar position, clash with the Pals in the third fray and the Baptist team will match shots with the league-leading Illinois Terminal five in the finale of the evening.

KERILENKO AND DUSEK MEET IN WRESTLING BOUT

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM OF WRESTLING BOUTS AT COLISEUM ARENA

MAIN EVENT—Matros Kerilenko, Russia, vs. Rudy Dusek, Memphis, Tenn. One fall. Time limit 30 minutes. Weights—Kerilenko 218 pounds, Dusek 210 pounds. Referee, Harry Sharpe.

SECOND PRELIMINARY—Roy Steele, Seattle, Wash., vs. Fred Grabmeier, Mason City, Ia. One fall. Time limit 45 minutes. Weights—Steele 210 pounds, Grabmeier 215 pounds. Referee, Joe Sanders.

OPENING BOUT—George Tragos, St. Louis, vs. Charles Santon, Kansas City, Mo. One fall. Time limit 30 minutes. Weights—Tragos 185 pounds, Santon 205 pounds. Referee, Harry Cook.

STARTING TIME—First contest, 8:30 p. m. PRICES—$1.10 to $3.30.

Matros Kerilenko of Russia and Rudy Dusek of Memphis, Tenn., are scheduled to wrestle to a finish in a one fall return match, featuring a program of four heavy-weight bouts at the Coliseum tonight. In their last encounter, two weeks ago, Kerilenko and Dusek wrestled 45 minutes to a draw. Kerilenko has compiled a record of two and one-half years in America. The Russian uses front and reverse headlocks to pin his opponents.

Frank Judson of Boston, former coach at Harvard University, also wrestled in the Coliseum, but was defeated by a young Lithuanian from Pittsburgh, who tangled in the semi-final, a one fall engagement to be governed by a time limit of one hour. Bartush made his local debut two weeks ago in a bout with Vito Rinaldi, whom he wrestled 30 minutes to a draw. Judson, since his last appearance here, two and a half years ago, has made successful tours of Europe, Asia and Australia.

Roy Steele of Seattle, who was originally carded to meet Jim McMillan in the semi-final, will engage Fred Grabmeier of Mason City, Ia. in the second preliminary, a one fall event with time restrictions of 45 minutes. McMillan withdrew because of a death in his family. Grabmeier, who weighs 215 pounds and is 5 feet 3 inches tall, is reputed to have defeated Benard Gardini, John Friberg and Jack Washburn in recent bouts.

George Tragos, former National A. U. middleweight champion, makes his debut as a heavyweight contender in the curtain-raiser, meeting Charles Santon of Kansas City, Mo.

KANSAS CITY DEFEATS MINNEAPOLIS TEAM IN HOCKEY LEAGUE MATCH

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 3.—Kansas City defeated Minneapolis 1 to 6 here last night, in an American Hockey Association game marked by exceptionally close refereeing because of the use of the new two referee system.

The close refereeing met with constant booing by the crowd and also resulted in numerous arguments between the players.

The contest was a see-saw affair up and down the ice. It was not until the third period was 15 minutes gone that St. John, on a pass from Halderman, scored the only goal of the contest.

St. John's goal was the only one of the game. The game was a close one, with the lead changing hands several times.

WRAY'S COLUMN

One Fighter, 3 Managers.

PRIMO CARNERA, the Italian giant who Monday arrived in the United States, will soon go to work at the task of supporting in luxury three managers. News accounts tell us that with Carnera arrived Leon See and Walter Friedman, co-managers, and also that Billy Duffey is going to look after his American fight career.

And the end is not yet, unless Carnera escapes the inevitable splits that seem to be necessary, before any incoming fighter can get to the seats of the mighty, in the boxing world.

Thus whatever Carnera takes in, during his American tour, will have to be divided FOUR ways. If the big fellow goes home with 25 per cent NET of his earnings he will be rather lucky. Foreign fighters who want to sit in the American ring row, have to pay high for their seats.

Nothing in that to induce a modern young fellow to desert a business or professional future for the ring's spotlight.

Almost a Champion. THAT amazing defeat of the Pittsburgh eleven by Southern California has caused even the second-guessers to throw up their hands. That any eleven could score more than 40 points against the powerful Pittsburgh combination, backed up by strong substitutes, seems unbelievable. But it happened, and sometimes goes to figure out the team with the best right to be called national champion of 1935.

Notre Dame ALMOST clinches the honor. Having beaten every real rival in the country except Purdue, who has transferred their fight to the South Bend eleven figures best. In fact, the Erskine committee voted Notre Dame the leading eleven—and the votes were cast before the Pittsburgh-Trojan contest.

Purdue undoubtedly is a powerful combination. But it either left at the end of the trail, or to what one very good fighter has to say on the subject. He is Pete Ziviz, formerly one of Jimmy Bronson's stable and an extremely clever boy in his prime. Pete fought here Nov. 21 against Peewee Kaiser and lost in 10 rounds. Pete is just slipping out of the picture by the way. He told friends:

"Some people think I've stored up a lot of money. They remember that I fought Al Brown, Al Singer, Carl Tremaine, Bushy Graham and many of the country's leading title men. I have fought 99 fights and for the entire box I have not received $20,000, including my manager's share! That means I have not averaged $200 a fight."

My fight bouts were for very small sums, but my largest prize was $1500. I received this amount for fighting Carl Tremaine at the Milk Fund show in Pittsburgh. I received the same amount for boxing Al Brown in Madison Square Garden, and Brown you know was N. B. A. champion. I received almost better, White Jayhawk, owned by C. V. Ladow of Fredonia, Kan., while third money went to the late, Southern Breeze, owned by E. L. Kirkpatrick of Tulsa, Ok.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Eight of the lead 'g' three-cushion players in the country will start play at the Palm Garden here tonight in the world championship tournament.

Johnny Layton of St. Louis, the present title holder, will defend his honors in the competition. Another former St. Louisan, Allen Hall, now of Chicago, is among the contestants.

The other players entered are Gus Copulos of Detroit; Otto Relsell of Philadelphia; Tiff Denton of Kansas City and Augie Kleckhefer of Chicago, all former champions; in addition to Charles Jordan of Los Angeles and Harry Schuler of Philadelphia, two newcomers in the ranks of the title play.

Willie Hoppe, for many years of the billiard players, who for the past two seasons finished second to Layton in the title tournaments, was in the original field of entrants, but withdrew when he was unable to reach satisfactory terms on a contract with the National Billiard Association, which is promoting the event. Hoppe's place was taken by Hall.

Layton, the champion, will be seen in action in the first match. He will oppose Schuler, who finished second in the Eastern sectional tournament, but was named as the winner could not compete. This match will officially open the competition at 7:45 o'clock. Reiser and Jordan will play the second game. Jordan, a former amateur title holder, won the Western sectional tourney. It was after this victory that he was disqualified by the National Amateur Association.

All the matches will be at 50 points, with Albert G. Cutler of this city, as referee. Following the opening night, four matches will be played each day until Jan. 10, when the event closes with one game.

All the players will figure in either the prize fund, which totals $15,000, or a division of the receipts. The winner will receive a medal, a prize of $1500 and a salary of $5000 a year in addition to 15 per cent of the gate receipts.

The winner of the title will hold the title for one year and will not be subject to challenge.

SHORTSTOP SIGAFOOS IS PURCHASED BY LOS ANGELES CLUB

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 3.—Purchase of Francis L. Sigafos, second baseman of the San Francisco Giants, was announced today by the management of the Los Angeles Baseball Club. Sigafos played with the Detroit Tigers last year at shortstop and third base but failed to solve the infield problem of the team. He went to the Chicago White Sox on waivers and then to the Beas in the Smead-Jolley sale last fall. The price paid by the Angels was not announced.

Stein Bows Kastner

The third block of the 40-game special match between Frank Kastner of the South Side Chevrolet bowling team and Otto Stein Jr., St. Louis' leading tenpinner, will be rolled on the Washington Allays tonight at 9:15 o'clock. Stein has a lead of 154 pins in the end of the first 20 games. Stein has averaged 210% for the first half of the match, while Kastner's 20-game mark is 201%.

There will be two boxing matches, the first being between Peewee Fuchs and Dick Costello, amateur fighters. They have met several times but no decision has been given.

Joe Harpet and Edgar Terry will meet in the second event. Both bouts are scheduled for three rounds.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 3.—The great Walter Hagen, who lately has failed to show the form which brought the British Open crown to his determined brow, today came forward to start a defense of his Long Beach Open tournament title against a field of more than 250 entrants over the Municipal Golf Course.

The three-day contest, which will end Sunday, marks the beginning of the third campaign for the place of the country's professional and amateur links experts. The $3500 tourney will be followed next week by the $10,000 Los Angeles Open and a week later by the big money competition, the Agua Caliente Open.

Mr. Walter will be pressed to capture this season, unless he shows a marked reversal of the game he displayed in the Professional Golfers' Association championship, the Catalina Open and the Pasadena Open.

The Detroit pro barely got in under the wire in the qualifying round of the P. G. A. and was eliminated in the semi-final. Going to the Catalina meet which he missed winning by a stroke a year ago, the Hags all but failed to win caddy fees. The Pasadena affair was the same story.

Horace Smith, the Missouri youth, with three championships already to the good, in the winter campaign, namely the Oregon, Berkeley and Pasadena open events, snared a second prize at Honolulu, is classed a slight favorite against the field, which includes such starters as Tony Manero, New York, Catalina champion; Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., winner of the Hawaiian Open; Johnny Howell, New York; Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y.; Eugene Chicago, Tommy Armour, Detroit, and a host of others.

Among the amateurs entered are George Von Elm of Detroit, Fay Coleman, Los Angeles, and a good supporting cast.

The qualifying play will require two days, with half of the entrants taking the course today to play 18 holes and the remainder playing their 18-hole round tomorrow. The low cards and ties will put the golfers in Sunday's final 36-hole round.

MATCH CARNERA LOOKS GOOD IN FIRST WORKOUT FOR HIS AMERICAN INVASION

WESTHUS AND SHIMON START AMATEUR TITLE MATCH TONIGHT

ITALIAN GIANT GOES 2 ROUNDS WITH ROJAS, NEWCOMER PUNCHES WELL AND SEEMS FAIRLY FAST

By Leased Wire from New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Primo Carnera went through his first boxing workout in Stillman's gymnasium yesterday, and his showing was impressive. A crowd of boxing fans jammed the gymnasium and several hundred would-be spectators were unable to gain entrance, but waited outside for the gigantic Italian to emerge after the workout.

Carnera boxed only two rounds with Romeo Rojas, another heavyweight, but who, however, looked tiny in comparison to him, and several times during the six minutes of sparring Primo appeared and staggered. He seemed to knock out Rojas, however, to knock out Rojas, but let up when he had him in a bad way.

For a man of his enormous proportions, Carnera moved about with surprising agility, looking very fast and is a fairly good boxer but showed that he needs plenty of experience before he will be able to cope with the top-notch heavyweights hereabouts.

Owens a Good Left Jab. He looked very like he should be boxed with Ivan Laffineur, welterweight champion of France, who accompanied him here from Paris. Unlike most huge men of the ring, notably Jess Willard and Jack Johnson, Carnera does not stand flatfooted and wait for an opponent to come to him. Instead, he assumes the defensive and takes out with a very formidable left jab, the while wading into his adversary. He uses a left hook pretty well, and he exhibited quite respectable right uppercut.

He affects a slight crouch which may be necessary in his case to bring him down to hitting plane with ordinary heavyweights. He looks and jukes with the crowd and is quite a bit with the spectators. Dan Morgan, who watched Carnera, predicted that the big fellow "will do."

George Godfrey, who next to Carnera is the biggest man in the ring today, will probably be engaged to act as sparring partner for the big Italian. Bill Duffey, who will do the piloting of Carnera's fight ship in this country, has offers from various promoters throughout the country, bidding for the services of the big Italian.

Will Not Rush Him Along. "There are offers from Carter in New York, from Jack in Chicago, Cleveland," said Duffey, "but we are not going to be in a rush matching this fellow. We'll take our time. If he can't handle the fight, he may fight Campbell, or he may fight somebody else. We'll have to wait and sort out the various offers for consideration."

Walter Friedman and Leon See, two of his managers, stated that Carnera has been fighting just 16 fights in his career.

He weighs 287 pounds now, said See, and when he first came to me he weighed 300 pounds. He has had 19 fights. He is a great brawler, and he has been substituting almost entirely on his feet, but wore burlap bags, and he has no shoes on his feet, but wore burlap bags.

"Now, of course, it is necessary to have everything he wears made to order for him. Abroad he has worn shoes in sizes like 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100, 102, 104, 106, 108, 110, 112, 114, # Golden Bears of California Bow To Kansas, 36-25

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 3.—A rejuvenated University of Kansas basketball team won its third straight game of the season here last night defeating a none too aggressive University of California aggregation 36 to 25.
Kansas led from the time of the first field goal, which was thrown by Thomson, last year's Big Six scoring star.
Blow in starting, the Fur-Westerners began a rally at the beginning of the second half that might have seriously threatened the outcome had it not been for the accurate shooting of Bishop, K. U. forward. He scored seven field goals. His floor work, with that of Captain Heelson, was outstanding.
The teams will renew their inter-sectional rivalry again tonight. Tomorrow they will play a third game at Lawrence.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Chosen to Meet the Requirements of Wholesomeness and Attractiveness.

Orange sherbet is one of the nicest icy-cold desserts that can be served for the last course of a formal dinner. This ice is readily made if these directions are followed.

Extract the juice from three oranges and three lemons. Grate the peel of the oranges and add to the juice. Mix fruit juice with three cups sugar and three cups water. Freeze the mixture. When about half frozen, add the whites of three eggs which have been beaten stiff. Continue freezing the mixture until it becomes stiff. Drain off the water from freezer and pack the sherbet until ready to serve.

Fruit Salad.
Chill bananas. Just before serving, peel them and roll in lemon juice. (The lemon juice prevents discoloration of the bananas). Cut them in halves lengthwise and put them in halves together with mayonnaise dressing, sandwich fashion. Arrange on small leaves of crisp romaine and sprinkle with chopped peanuts. Serve with mayonnaise.

Cole Slaw.
Shave cabbage fine and soak for an hour in cold water. Press dry in cloth. Place on ice until ready to serve. Then serve with a dressing made as follows: Take one cup cream, two tablespoons lemon juice, one tablespoon vinegar. Use salt to taste.
Whip the cream with an egg beater, add lemon juice and vinegar, beat thoroughly. Pour over two cold cooked beets which have been chopped fine. Mix well until the dressing is thoroughly colored pink. Then strain and serve over the cabbage.

Chicken Baked in Milk.
Ingredients needed are six cups milk, five tablespoons fat, five tablespoons flour, two teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and a medium-sized fowl.

Cut up fowl dry and sprinkle with flour. Brown pieces of chicken in fat, using large saucepan, adding more fat as it may be needed. Remove browned chicken, place in large baking dish. Add flour and seasonings to fat in pan. Brown and add milk gradually, and when sauce boils, pour over chicken. Cover baking dish and cook in slow oven for one and one-half hours or longer.

Veal Cutlet.
Order the veal cut one-half inch thick and pound it until quite thin. Cut in pieces for serving, dust with salt and pepper, dip in fine, dry bread crumbs, then in an egg beaten with one-half cup cold water, then in crumbs again. Fry deep in shortening heated to 350 degrees F., or until a bit of bread will brown in sizzling counts. Drain on crumpled paper and serve.

Fruit Jelly Omelet.
Beat together yolks and whites of three eggs until slightly blended; season with salt and pepper and add three tablespoons hot water. Melt one tablespoon butter in hot frying pan, turn in egg mixture and stir in center with a fork. As it cooks, lift edges with spatula and tilt pan so egg mixture comes in contact with hot pan. When it has set, cream center and spread one side with jam or jelly. Fold and serve on hot platter.

EGGS MAY BE USED FOR THE MAIN DISH

Intriguing New Ways of Preparing Eggs for the Family Dinner.

Eggs constitute one of the most valuable food products, both because of the nutritive value and because of the many ways in which they may be utilized. Almost everyone can eat eggs because they are easily digested if cooked correctly.

The white of the egg may become hard and leather-like if it is cooked at a high temperature. When "boiling" eggs, keep the temperature of the water just under the boiling point. When frying or baking eggs, turn the heat low to insure a tender product when finished.

Eggs are especially good from the nutrition standpoint because the yolk contains a large amount of iron. It requires thought and care in selecting food to get as much iron as is needed by the body daily. An egg or two a day will help to insure an adequate supply. The following recipes suggest some different ways of using eggs:

Creamed Eggs With Mushrooms. This is a dainty luncheon dish. To make it use one cup finely chopped mushrooms, six hard cooked eggs, one half teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, two cups white sauce. Sauté mushrooms in butter. Mix mushrooms, eggs and seasonings with white sauce. Put in baking dish. Sprinkle with crumbs and grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until cheese is melted.

Eggs Supreme. Ingredients needed are one cup rich thick cream sauce, eight hard cooked eggs, one-half cup cream or thick milk, one-fourth cup mushrooms, one cup cooked ham, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one-half cup grated cheese and one cup rice. To hot cream sauce, add sliced hard-cooked eggs, cream, mushrooms, ham, salt and paprika. Sprinkle top with cheese and rice. Bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Eggs in Potato Nest. Put a two-inch layer of mashed potatoes in baking dish. Make indentations with a tablespoon and drop an egg in each hollow. Season and bake in a moderate oven 15 minutes until eggs are set.

TRY SCALLOPED EGGPLANT PREPARED THIS WAY
 This Vegetable Requires Considerable Dressing Up to Make It Palatable.

Eggplant gives a very good dish scalloped with cracker crumbs and cheese, if too much flavoring or too strong a flavoring is not used. Use the mild cheese, and just enough for a flavor. Peel, slice and cut the eggplant into smaller pieces than the whole slices (the scalloped dish will cook more quickly if these are dipped in boiling water a few seconds). Arrange the eggplant, cracker crumbs, specks of butter and grated cheese in the casserole, then add enough hot milk to three-fourths fill the baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Cover the dish for the first 15 minutes, then uncover it. The crumbs and cheese on top should be browned.

BREADED SWEETBREADS IDEAL

FOR A COMPANY BREAKFAST
Also Just the Thing for Main Dish
at a Formal Luncheon.

Dishes incorporating sweet-breads are always included in all lists of company dishes.

Breaded sweetbreads are especially liked for company breakfasts and for formal luncheons.

This is how breaded sweetbreads are prepared. Take two pairs of sweetbreads, one sprig parsley, one stalk celery, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup fine dry bread crumbs, one egg and two tablespoons water.

Soak sweetbreads in salt water
one hour. Drain. Put in saucepan with parsley, celery and salt and enough water to cover. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat, and cook slowly 30 minutes. Cool in the stock in which they are cooked. Remove fat and connective tissue from the sweetbreads and cut in uniform pieces. Dip in crumbs then a slightly beaten egg diluted with water and again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until brown. Drain on unglazed paper.

SEEK FOOD ADVICE

Persons to Consult Are Food Experts Who Study the Question.
Food is no longer just food—it is measured and rated by proteins, calories, vitamins and other yard-sticks.

People now know why they should eat certain dishes and the various health values they possess.

They have become more and more interested in what to eat and what not to eat.

In general people no longer depend on old food customs and habits, but look to food experts for advice as to proper diet.

Cold Roast Beef Tabbouleh.
Put the cold roast left from dinner through the food chopper.
Moisten it well with catsup, and spread between slices of buttered bread for next day's lunch; or roll biscuit dough thin, cut with large-size cutter, spread half of each round with the meat and catsup mixture, fold over, and bake in hot oven. Serve hot or cold.

HOW TO PREPARE A SUNDAY DINNER

Home Folks Entitled to an Extra Fine Meal Once a Week.

Something unusual—that is what housewives like to serve at the Sunday dinner, and yet that "something" must not require too much labor in preparation. With this thought in mind, plan a meal that can be prepared and served by the homemaker without additional assistance.

Serve turkey or baked golden brown, succulent ham—always so acceptable, and especially so if the turkey crop is not abundant;
mashed white or baked stuffed sweet potatoes and baked squash, or buttered onions. Cranberry jelly, celery, olives and homemade pickles offer added piquancy.

A delicious salad that harmonizes in flavor and texture with the rest of the meal is prepared as follows:
Take half a canned pear, place it in a nest of shredded lettuce with a cheese ball in the hollow of each pear. Serve with a tart French dressing.

Mince meat, lemon sponge or pumpkin pie with coffee for the adults, elder for the older children and milk for the toddlers complete the meal.

The meal is planned to meet the food requirements of the family as well as the adult members of the family, with little or no variation.
The very young children will be served the cooked vegetables, the pear without cheese or dressing and the mixture of lemon sponge or pumpkin pie baked in small ramekins.

How delighted the children will be to learn that they, too, are having the same dishes that the other members of the family are enjoying, and how much work it is saving mother not to have to prepare other dishes for the children.

Baked Ham.
For serving the average family,
choose a 10 or 15 pound ham.
Plunge into boiling water, boil 10 minutes, reduce heat and simmer two hours. Take ham from water, remove skin from two-thirds of ham, leaving skin on Shank end.

Bake one hour with fat side up,
one cup hot water and one teaspoon dry mustard. Rub fat with brown sugar, using back of spoon, dot with whole cloves, continue baking for one and one-half hours, basting frequently.
Place apples, halved and cored, around ham, return to oven, bake until done. It takes about five hours to prepare this ham. Allow two and one-half hour for half a ham, or butt.

Baked Stuffed Potatoes.
Scrub potatoes and bake in a hot oven. When soft cut off upper portion, as potato lies flat, and scoop out the inside. Mash, add butter, cream to moisten and salt to taste.
Beat very thoroughly and refill the skins. Put a marshmallow in the center of each potato, sprinkle with nuts and bake five minutes in a hot oven.

Baked Stuffed Squash.
This may be prepared the day before by splitting the squash, scooping out the seeds, and putting the shell and all into the oven and cooking until the squash is thoroughly soft. It may be scooped out of the hard shell then, put into a double boiler and reheated the next day with salt and pepper to taste.

Cranberry Pie.
This delicious pie is made with two egg yolks, one cup milk, one cup sugar, three tablespoons flour, one half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon melted butter, two egg whites and a baked pastry shell.

Beat egg yolks until light and add milk. Mix together sugar, flour and salt and stir into first mixture.
Add melted shortening and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into baked pastry shell and bake in a moderate oven about 40 minutes or until firm.

CRANBERRIES MAKE TASTY CONSERVE AND MARMALADE

These Healthful and Attractive Dishes Are Now in Season.

Housewives who neglect to make use of cranberries are making a mistake, as this berry is not only tasty and appetizing but also has food value.

Cranberries make tempting conserves, as these recipes will demonstrate:

Cook one quart cranberries, juice and pulp of two oranges, one cup seeded raisins and one cup of water together until cranberries burst and the raisins are soft. Add one pound sugar and cook gently until thick. Seal in sterilized glass jars.

SEES ACTIVITY AHEAD

By GEORGE M. VERNITY, President American Rolling Mill Company.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—There is every indication that at least a very large majority of all the plans heretofore made for industrial improvement and expansion will be carried out as previously planned.

It would be very short-sighted to do otherwise for, as certain as the night follows the day, when business gets into full swing again we shall find ourselves in a period of great activity made necessary in the endeavor to take care of current needs and to catch up with a delayed and increased consumption.

While no one can measure the strength of a period of recession, no matter what the cause, a corresponding period of increased activity is certain to follow.

Every properly organized business unit will decrease its cost of operation and increase its efficiency during a period of lessened activity so that when we return to a quickened activity, as we always have and will again, greater earnings should be the result.

SOU. PAO. PLANS INCREASE IN AUTHORIZED STOCK

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Directors of the Southern Railway today recommended a 2,000,000-share increase in the authorized common stock to provide additional capital stock for insurance when needed to provide funds for expansion and improvement.

The directors adopted a resolution requesting the stockholders to approve the increase at their regular annual meeting April 4.

It was explained that the company does not plan to make any present use of the additional stock, or to offer stockholders subscription rights at this time. The increase, if approved, merely gives the company additional authorized capital to fortify it against future needs.

There are at present outstanding approximately 2,700,000 shares of the Southern Railway. The additional shares proposed would add to the total of 100 per cent.

WON'T PROSECUTE MEN WHO STORED GAME

Springfield, Mo., Attorney's Action Scored by State Wardens Who Made Raids.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 3. — Refusal of Prosecuting Attorney George Skidmore to file charges against half a dozen prominent Springfield citizens accused of illegally storing wild game today brought a protest from officers representing the State Fish and Game Department.

Four representatives of the State Department who yesterday made investigations at hotels, restaurants and creameries had filed affidavits against Dr. John W. Williams Jr., director of the Springfield-Greene County Health Unit; W. P. Keltner, president of the Springfield Creamery Co.; Charles Sansone of the Colonial Hotel, and others. All were accused of keeping quail or ducks in storage for future consumption. Skidmore said in declining to start prosecutions that he believes the State law involved intends only to strike at commercialism, sale of wild game and storage for sale, and that he had received no evidence of commercialism against any of the persons listed.

John P. Heller, investigator for the State Department, termed Skidmore's failure to act as "a deliberate slap in the face for the 12,000 persons in Greene County who hold hunting licenses." Heller said he had brought similar charges in similar cases at Macon, Cape Girardeau, Poplar Bluff, Hannibal, Charleston and St. Louis, and that in all those places prosecutions had been pressed.

WOMAN REALTY DEALER SAYS $30,000 JUDGMENT BROKE HER

Mrs. Blanch Hitzman Kaune Testifies About "Erroneous" Award Against Her.

But for a judgment for $30,000, which Mrs. Blanch Hitzman Kaune, until recently regarded as the most successful woman real estate dealer in St. Louis, says was entered against her "erroneously," she would have been able to meet her obligations, according to her testimony in Bankruptcy Court yesterday.

Her liabilities, including the judgment, are listed at $60,134. No trustee was appointed, as her assets amount to only $375 in household goods claimed as exempt. The judgment resulted from a suit by Dr. Lucien du Quay for her alleged failure to pay for stock in the Ozark Red Granite Co., of which she was an organizer.

Mrs. Kaune, who had offices in the Butler Building, related that she entered the real estate business seven years ago and had been operating for herself for five years. A number of her debts are doctor bills contracted on behalf of her invalid husband, she said.

Mrs. Kaune made a commission of $40,000 in one transaction in 1926. She filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition last Nov. 23, transferring her equity in two lots to an attorney for representation in the proceedings.

Seeking Sister of John Nolen. BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 3. — John Nolen, who died here recently, had no relatives except a sister. She lives in St. Louis, but her name is unknown here as is her address.

French Widows Will Quit Wearing Weeds

BECAUSE Paris was recently dubbed the city of gloom, from the fondness of its women for wearing black, a first step is being made to abolish the widow's weeds. Widows themselves are back to the movement. They claim that the widow's weeds in France are too long and lugubrious and are not at all in keeping with the French reputation for chic. Now the Duchess d'Uzes, president of the Society for Women's Suffrage, who is herself a widow, has declared her earnest support of the campaign, says the United Press.

The Duchess was widowed years ago, but she has always worn the widow's weeds, although she freely admits the style is entirely out of keeping with modern life. She bases her argument more on utility than appearance, claiming that in the crowded streets, in auto buses and subways the long veil is a nuisance.

Since the Duchess is one of the most respected leaders of social life in France, it is expected that her action will follow her advice, and the fashion houses are expected to jump at the suggestion, with the possibility of new designs in mourning headgear for widows.

But although the mourning veil will not go entirely, the suggestion is put forward by widows that it would be appropriate to wear the veil on the day of the funeral, but even then it could be more abbreviated than the style that fashion has dictated for long.

THE MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

MRS. SOLOMON'S SAYINGS.

My Son, I charge thee, keep not a woman's heart TOO long in storage, lest another take pity upon her, and seek to thaw it.

For, a little coolness, a damsel's vanity and giveth an edge to her ire; but continued frost dulls her illusions and dulls her enthusiasm.

As parprika to the salad-dressing, so is a short absence; it addeth heat and color to the dulllest romance.

But he that remaineth away for a whole fortnight without word is as a photographic proof in the sunlight. His image fadeseth in the imagination.

Sweeter than a ukelele by moonlight is the perfect devotion of a lover. But he that telephoneth a damsel before BREAKFAST is as a cold coffee and soggy muffins—exceedingly deadly.

Yes, he is as welcome as a bill upon the breakfast tray, or an installment collector upon Christmas morning.

As fresh powder on the nose, so is a little jealousy, exceedingly flattering. But a man that keepeth tabs upon a damsel and casteth doubts of suspicion upon every man who danceth twice with her, is a tight slipper—too painful to be endured.

Cut flowers are oftentimes better than an apology, and acts of condescension more convincing than an explanation.

But he that findeth repentance easy and repeateth the offense is as a loose garb to the spirit, and ready to be dropped.

The sage hath said, "In vino, veritas." But, the damsel who believeth a man's words, after his third glass, is as one that falleth for the smiles of the handsome automobile salesman, strangely simple.

For, while a man's head goeth around, he loveth ANY woman who is near at hand.

Wherefore is a woman flattered when a man asketh for her telephone number?

For, as men once collected pressed flowers and locks of hair as trophies of their triumphs, so do they now collect telephone numbers.

And why should a damsel be flattered to be among a man's "souvenirs"?

Go to, my Son. The damsel of today is wise in her generation. Therefore, be not deceived because she hath put on trailing frocks and 1830 manner. For, this doth not signify that she hath forgotten her onions or gone SIMPLE-MINDED. Nay, though she hath dove's and a clinging way, yet hath she every man's number!

Take Nothing for Granted

By Dr. Louis E. Bisch.

IT is so easy to take things for granted without investigating for ourselves.

It saves time and trouble not to bother to prove or disprove what we hear. How much simpler to accept a bit of gossip without questioning it than to weigh and consider it and to make it a point to turn the true facts ourselves.

Especially are we prone to become derogatory statements.

Altogether too often we accept challenge a derogatory statement about a friend or acquaintance.

Indeed, we tend to question something praiseworthy said or rather than something that likely to bring discredit.

Undoubtedly our instinctive competitive sense accounts for this very universal trait—at least in part.

Then behind each and every opinion when we like to believe nations against, instead of for, an individual, there is some deep-seated personal reason, perhaps an unconscious jealousy, that activates us.

Bits of news, in one way or another, travel to everybody. These, we accept altogether too readily.

Our thoughts are filled with odds and ends, making of our lives a disorderly room cluttered with junk.

It would be a good rule if everyone questioned everything they hear.

Be on your guard against advertisements or offers of all kinds that are too alluring.

Watch yourself lest you take for granted and believe not what is plainly the truth, but merely what you want to believe.

The mind can be tricky.

Chinese Will Need 100,000 Teachers

ONE hundred thousand school teachers will be needed in China for the enforcement of the compulsory education laws, says a report of the education department. The report estimates there are 2,000,000 illiterate children in this area.

The total population of the province is calculated to range from 28,000,000 to 32,000,000, and the third largest province in China.

At present there are but 700,000 children in school, says the report. The committee reckons that approximately 125,000,000 will be required to carry out the educational program.

It is planned to start schools in the cities and gradually extend the teaching system to the villages. In the beginning the children of the well-to-do and middle classes will be considered for the various classes, and as funds become available the scheme will be carried into the country districts and in the children of the poor will be given an education.

The report has been submitted to officials of the provincial government.

Oyster Cocktails

A very nice start for the winter menu. To about one pint of oysters add the juice of one lemon and a dash of tabasco sauce to each. Only a drop of tabasco sauce will be added at a time, as too much will make the sauce unbearable. This makes enough for oyster cocktails, allowing six fresh raw oysters to each portion. The oyster sauce to cover them should be served in the glasses a half hour before serving and thoroughly chilled so as to be ice cold when served.

BEAUTY SLEEP: MODEL 1930

By Mabel McElliott Clarke

"It's like a visit to the dentist's, with all the pain removed"

IN the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty, I remember celebrating in New York, a very special date with the Young Man of the Moment by rakishly indulging in a facial massage. It seemed to me quite fitting, in that beautiful era, to drop into the local beauty parlor and permit the girl who usually waved my hair to perform the trick.

She didn't pretend to be a specialist, this girl-of-all-jobs, who casually pummeled my cheeks kneaded in cold cream with determined thoroughness and who rendered me the color of a newly boiled lobster by a final application of steaming towels. Then, as I remember it, she made me up in strange and wonderful fashion. She slapped on round cheeks of peony red, floured me generously with powder and sent me out into the night looking somewhat like a tenth carbon copy of a burlesque queen. It was weeks before I got my face back to its normal state of inconspicuous pallor.

It is not surprising, then, that I received the indelible impression that "having a facial," as we used so crudely to call it, was an uncomfortable experience and likewise an unsatisfactory one. Last year I naively said as much to a woman friend who is privy to the elegancies of modern life, and she stared in round-eyed scorn before challenging me.

Then, horrified, she demanded: "Have you never been to the Pompadour? Or Beauty Box?" She named the temples to vanity which are known to every fashionable woman in New York. I confessed with a sense of shame that I did not know the places. She embarked on a brief and stinging oration, the burden of which was that only a yokel would have lived so long in New York, the woman's town, without tasting the pleasures and luxuries of these salons. She made an immediate visit to one or both of them seem a vital, pressing matter. Well, I had been in the early days to the Aquarium, the Statue of Liberty and Grant's Tomb. So I took a chance on the Pompadour.

When I telephoned to make an appointment, the voice at the other end of the wire demanded to know whether or not I desired the ordinary treatment, which cost $2.50 in money and 45 minutes in time, or the more elaborate one, which would be $5. I chose the less expensive rite.

"R-relax."

There followed a rite which in its delightful intricacy would probably put to shame the arts of Cleopatra's handmaidens.

THE day was faintly chill and, after I had been disposed comfortably in the easy chair, with my feet up on a hassock of vast proportions, I was tucked in with small rose-colored blankets. My head was banded up, colwise, in a towel. All the side lights in the booth were turned off and just one lamp remained, leaving the cubicle in the gentle half-darkness reserved only for a sickroom. In the soothing atmosphere began the demonstration of what is now known as the science of facial esthetics.

I said before that an intense silence reigned over the place. But presently from down the hall there was heard the subdued but vigorous sound of slapping. Presumably the sound of the clop-clop heard off stage in certain melodramas of the old school when a horse was supposed to be approaching from a distance. Presumably I was to learn what that sound meant. It was the determined, if kind, spanking administered to the beauty-seeker's face, after half a hundred screams had been rubbed in and out. My unprepared chin was placed in an improvised sling, fastened to the top of my head. I slept.

FEELING rather like a tonsillectomy patient who has so lately quitted himself credibly, I woke up to have icy towels slapped over my astonished cheeks and to submit to the making-up process, 1930 model. Quite different it is to the old way. Hildur gives you a face you may take out upon the avenue with pride. It deserves—and usually gets—a new hat to match it. Maybe that is why so many milliners flourish in that section.

I found later in my pursuit of facts about beauty doled out to ladies in exchange for dollars and cents that results are not so important, really, as the amusement and relaxation to be had during the period of treatment.

"It's a visit to the dentist's, with all the pain removed," explained a vivacious young woman who is in charge of another important palace de beauté in the upper fifties.

"The young ones come when they're in love and want to be assured of their good looks; the old ones come to kill time or because their husbands have struck oil or because they've suddenly discovered, with the last child packed away to school, that they have wrinkles. Oh, yes," she elaborated, rather shocked, answering my cynical inquiry, "we're able to do a great deal for them, if they're skins not utterly hopeless. And then we teach the older women how to make up. It's an art they didn't learn in their youth, you know. Some of them—would you believe it, in this age—still think it is 'fast' to use cosmetics. And although the corridor down which presently she led me did not reek of disinfectant, there was in the whole proceeding something vaguely awesome, reminiscent of that dramatic arrival at the hospital on the day my first child was born. Although, I must say, in tribute to the lady who conducts this salon, the atmosphere is more peaceful than that of any hospital I've ever known.

You know the clangor that attends the working day of most beauty shops. The scurrying, the jangle of bells, the cries for Mr. Jacques or Mr. Anton or Miss Suzanne that shrill down the aisle. The clank of marcel irons, and above all the hiss of steam driers and the rattle of the manicure girl's tools. None, no, not one of these sounds is present in the tranquil rooms at the Pompadour. Perfect silence is one of the first rules of the place, and it is strictly observed.

When the creamy velvet curtains had swung into place behind us, I found myself in a cubicle lined with mirrors. There was a super-easy chair draped in pearl-colored linen, a linen overall into which I slipped, after having removed my frock. Then—

A DISH FOR TODAY

By Nancy Dorris

As a matter of course, the wise woman prepares for the unexpected guest and any number of impromptu tea and bridge parties during the holiday season. The emergency shelf is quietly stored with glazed and canned foodstuffs to be coaxed into a ravishing concoction in the twinkling of an eye. A perfect hostess, she!

The satisfying toasted sandwich popularized by restaurants, accompanied by coffee, tea or chocolate, forms a most substantial course. After a one, two or triple deck sandwich and hot coffee, few guests care about a sweet course so long as sugared nuts, candies from foreign lands and fruits are within easy reach.

At one of the tea room chains where holiday shoppers refresh the inner woman beside the day-in-and-day-out luncheon guests, triple-deck sandwiches are made to the individual order. Three slices of hot toast carry the fillings, and crisp lettuce and savory dressings add to the pleasure of the sandwich.

Six special triple-deck sandwiches, good enough for even a drowsy party, are listed for the benefit of the prospective holiday hostess. The toast should be well buttered in all the sandwiches.

No. 1—Toast, crisp lettuce and mayonnaise, sliced Virginia ham, toast, sliced imported Swiss cheese, lettuce and mayonnaise, toast.

No. 2—Toast, lettuce, sliced mayonnaise, ham, Swiss cheese, toast, sliced sharp American cheese, lettuce, mayonnaise, toast.

No. 3—Toast, Romaine, cottage cheese and currant jelly, toast, minced walnuts, mayonnaise, Romaine, toast.

No. 4—Toast, watercress, flaked white tuna fish, sliced olives, toast, sliced hard-cooked egg, mayonnaise, watercress, toast.

No. 5—Toast, sliced hard-cooked egg and chopped pimiento, toast, imported anchovies, Russian dressing, lettuce, toast.

No. 6—Toast, lettuce, chicken salad, toast, sliced tomato, crisp bacon squares, mayonnaise, lettuce, toast.

Small cans or jars of tuna, anchovies, pimientos, chicken and bacon and larger containers of mayonnaise, Russian dressing, olives, pickles and cheese facilitate the sandwich preparations. Sliced ham, both smoked and Virginia, from the delicatessen, lettuce and other salad greens and the homemade mayonnaise and other salad dressing stored in the refrigerator will also reduce the last-minute effort.

Serve cheese, American cheese, cream cheese keep well in a cool place. Plenty of nuts, candies, fruit cake in boxes and other Christmas confections supply needed variety and make the seemingly impossible prompt spread. Plenty of coffee and cream, of course!

have the danger averted. No, I don't think that's encouraging vanity early. It's just being intelligent. Lots of business women, too, who haven't time to spare daily, have a regular once-a-week treatment which keeps them looking fit. They like our operators because they don't gabble. It seems to me a school for quiet barbers ought to be established, so that men could also profit by this silent service."

I want away wondering why people still believed it impossible to keep women's mouths shut, whatever the occasion. The new science of facial esthetics proves that silence can be tangibly golden. And I agree with my worldly friend that a facial treatment, new style, is one of the prime luxuries this woman's town has to offer. It may be mostly hokum, but it's a pleasant way of getting a rest in a world of subway construction and red-hot rivet throwers.

Baked Apple Dumplings

A wonderful dessert for one of these cold nights. Make a pie crust, divide it into six parts and roll each part thin. Have ready a good-sized tart apples, pared and cored. Fill up the cavities with sugar and butter. Close the dough neatly around the apples and turn that side down in a deep dish. Sprinkle some sugar, ground cinnamon and butter over them and set them in the oven to bake. Pour a little water in the bottom of the dish and bake for 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven. Serve with hard sauce.

An Economy Item

It will lower the gas bills to use the furnace fire for cooking. Many housewives do bake potatoes on the inside ledge of the fireplace. Most of us are aware that steaks, chops, etc., can be broiled par excellence on the large firebed of the furnace, but there are those who take advantage of the furnace that has to burn away by preparing entire meals by that medium.

To cook a dinner, ordinary bricks or the cover of a cooking range (if you have one) may be used to hold the cooking receptacles, and two or three bricks can be used to serve as uprights for the covers or bricks, but these are not absolutely necessary.

A little practice in furnace cooking will soon make you expert. Then, too, you will prepare meals without any extra fuel cost. In many households this will mean a big item of reduction in the expense account, and even in the ordinary family it will be a worthwhile saving.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The first day of the new year on the New York Stock Exchange opened today with the general movement of prices in character. Final quotations closed a rather long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 5 points, interspersed with a number of declines, most of which were fractional.

Technical Recovery.
There was practically nothing in day's business news to influence the price movement, such reports as came to hand confirming what already been known. Today's rally characterized by many observers as a technical recovery adjustment in the wake of the week by the heavy volume selling for income tax purposes.
The overnight news was not of character to revise bullish enthusiasm to any extent. The stock change monthly earnings figures disclosed a negligible decline in December, compared to the previous reductions of October and November.

Bank clearings for December were a decided drop from the previous December, but could not be accepted as a very definite barometer of business activity, as the stock trading undoubtedly an important factor in causing the high level of December.
Coppers Are Strong.
Motors went through the usual new dressing" coincident with opening of the New York Automobile show, but the demonstration lacked the vigor of those of past few years. Hudson and each showed net gains of more than 2 points and Mack and Chrysler, Packard and General Motors, which were traded over in rather large volumes, showed only fractional gains.

Foreign Exchange trading was quiet, with most of the European currencies displaying an easier underlying. Sterling Cables were quoted around $4.87 1/2-16. Recurrent weakness developed in the dollar and Argentine exchanges.

Incident of Liquidation.
Wall Street accepted the December report of the Stock Exchange member borrowings as indicating that liquidation in the stock market had been rather generally imported by the end of November. Following two months of conservative decline which cut the total of such borrowings by more than 50 per cent, the figures for December, as anticipated, showed a further decline, a further drop of $17,455,496. This negative change, if it did nothing more than confirm the traditionary character of the market during the month, was a fairly heavy weight of time loans running from 1 to 6 months, and maturing during December were not removed for the reason that under conditions expected to prevail for some time to come, it indicated from the point of view of that character.

dices and market news, will be 124.
